

U.S. Deploys Multiple Warhead MIRV Missiles

New York Times Service

WASHINGTON — The United States reached an important milestone Friday in the postwar development of arms technology by announcing that it had deployed multiple warheads in some American intercontinental missiles.

In a 70-word statement, the Air Force announced: "We can now say that the Strategic Air Command has assumed responsibility for the first flight of these missiles at Minot Air Force Base, North Dakota."

The statement said the first flight consisted of 10 missiles and one launching control facility, but avoided stating explicitly that the triple warhead had been mounted on the missile. It was made clear, however, that SAC would not assume responsibility for missiles that were not operational.

In the view of most weapons experts, the deployment of these multiple, independently targeted re-entry vehicles, known as MIRVs, which were originally developed in response to antiballistic missiles by the Soviet Union, heralds the opening of a new era in the strategic arms race.

Heretofore, nuclear missiles have been equipped with one warhead per missile, but with MIRVs, each side in the arms race can now increase greatly the number of thermonuclear warheads it can launch without adding to the number of missiles.

To its supporters, the MIRV represents an important advance in nuclear weaponry, primarily as a means to penetrate missile defenses. The deployment at Minot AFB is the first step in the planned replacement of 500 Minuteman I and II missiles with MIRVs.

To its critics, the multiple warhead weapons represent a dangerous new stage in the escalating arms race, a roadblock on the path to an agreement on the limitation of strategic arms, and an irreversible step in the direction of more nuclear weapons.

Critics in the Senate and elsewhere have argued that the continued testing and deployment of MIRV would spur the Russians to continue their own tests.

This, in turn, is expected to harden the bargaining positions of both sides at the Strategic Arms Limitations Talks now being held in Vienna, although Administration and Defense Department figures have stated that the MIRV missiles can be scrapped if an agreement to that effect is reached with Russia.

But the limitation or banning of MIRVs, once they are deployed, raises a problem. Instead of using spy satellites, the current conventional means, a MIRV agreement would require on-site inspection, a step that both the Soviets and the U.S. could be expected to resist.

The planned deployment of 500 MIRVs over a period of years will add substantially in terms of numbers alone to the nation's offensive missile capability. The country is believed to have about 1,054 intercontinental ballistic missiles.

The Mark 12 re-entry vehicle will contain three independently targetable nuclear warheads, each with the explosive power of about 200,000 tons of TNT, or 10 times the power of the atomic bomb dropped on Hiroshima.

In addition to supplying multiple warheads for its land-based missiles, the Pentagon announced that it will begin to equip nuclear-powered submarines with the Poseidon missile, another kind of MIRV, early next year. The Poseidon, which will replace Polaris nuclear missiles on about 30 of 41 submarines, will carry more of the separate nuclear devices — perhaps as many as 14 — of smaller explosive power.

If all projected MIRVs are deployed on sea and land, and if the nation's bomber force remains static, the number of U.S. strategic nuclear warheads would rise to more than 10,000. The Russians, it is estimated, will have about 6,300.

Stamp Club

Q. I am a stamp collector and I would like to know if there are any philately clubs in Long Beach, M.H., Long Beach.

A. You can join the Long Beach Stamp Collectors' Club by attending one of its meetings on the first or third Tuesday of each month at the Westminster Community Presbyterian Church, 2474 Pacific Ave. The meetings start at 7:30 p.m. The club sponsors lectures on philately, trading sessions and stamp auctions. The dues are $3 per year.

Extend Yourself?

Q. Are there any laws against hooking up your own extension telephone? I know several people who have self-installed extensions and I have also seen mail order advertisements selling telephones to install yourself. Mrs. A. S., Long Beach.

A. It is in violation of General Telephone Co.'s tariff agreement with the California Public Utilities Commission to connect any foreign equipment to telephone company lines without the company's approval. Telephone lines are the property of the telephone company, and they are authorized to decide what equipment can be attached to the lines. "This agreement was reached for reasons of public safety," said a spokesman for the Public Utilities Commission in San Francisco. "A person could connect something to a line that would throw a whole neighborhood out of service and damage equipment," he said, adding that anyone wishing to connect equipment to the phone lines must check first with the telephone company involved. A General Telephone Co. spokesman said they are aware that home-installed extensions exist, and that the company has means of detecting these devices.

extensions exist, and that the company has means of detecting these devices.

Register Grievance

Q. Since voting in the last general election, I have changed my name through marriage. I was unable to reregister before the June 2 primary election, and when I went to vote under my maiden name a former neighbor working as a polling place official would not allow me to cast my ballot. I can't understand what difference it makes for me to vote under my maiden name. K. E. C., Long Beach.

A. Elections Code provisions against voting fraud require a person's legal name to coincide with his name on the registration sheet, said a spokesman for the Registrar of Voters in Los Angeles. You can no longer legally sign your maiden name after you are married. Persons changing their name after the registration deadline — 54 days before an election — are allowed to vote anyway. But in your case, you should have reregistered under your new name immediately after your marriage. "Much voting fraud is hard to track down or stop," the spokesman said. "So we have to follow the regulations strictly."

Tooth of the Matter

Q. When my grandfather was in San Pedro Peninsula Hospital, he removed his dentures, wrapped them in some tissue and placed them on the food stand. He didn't have a cup to put them in. A nurse came and cleared everything off the tray and threw it away. The next morning he noticed they were missing and reported it. Is the hospital responsible for replacing his dentures? D.H.C., Wilmington.

A. "We will not be replacing them because we aren't at fault," said Harold Wade, hospital administrator. "We couldn't confirm his story and we weren't convinced that the dentures were lost in this fashion," he said. He said part of the form your grandfather signed when he was admitted to the hospital was a release saying the hospital wouldn't be responsible for dentures and other valuables if damaged or lost in the hospital. It is customary, he said, for new patients to be given a denture cup when admitted to the hospital, but he did not know if your grandfather had received one. He also said hospital personnel would not unwrap items which appeared to be discarded.

Senseless Police Killings in 2 Cities

Associated Press

Two young policemen — one in Chicago, one in San Francisco — were slain Friday as they were making out routine reports in their squad cars.

In Chicago, Kenneth G. Kaner, 33, father of two youngsters, died after he was hit by a shotgun blast fired through a window of the car.

In San Francisco, Richard P. Radetich, 25, was fatally wounded when one of three pistol shots hit him in the head. He died after undergoing six hours of brain surgery in San Francisco General Hospital.

Authorities said there was no apparent reason for either shooting.

Chicago investigators said Kaner was slain by several young men who surrounded his car at an intersection on the South Side.

Police said they arrested five men, all in their 20s and all carrying pistols or shotguns, a few blocks away. One of the five, Bradley Green, 23, was identified by Police Commander Harold Miles as a member of the Black Panther Party.

San Francisco officers said Radetich had just finished writing a citation for a car without a 1970 license sticker when a gunman apparently drove up and fired at him. A resident in the neighborhood at Waller and Scott Streets heard the shots and called the police. Both officers were alone.

Angela Davis Says She'll Fight Firing

Regents

Vote 15-6 on Ouster

Combined News Services

Angela Davis said Friday afternoon she will take legal action against the University of California Board of Regents, which voted 15 to 6 earlier in the day to dismiss her from her post as an assistant professor of philosophy at UCLA.

Miss Davis, 26, a member of the Communist and Black Panther parties, did not elaborate on what steps she plans to take in fighting her ouster.

The regents, who failed in a try at firing Miss Davis on grounds she was a Communist, dropped her Friday for "extreme" speeches off campus.

In a report accompanying their 15-6 vote — three regents weren't present — the regents' majority said she also had not made satisfactory progress on a doctoral dissertation.

The six minority regents said she was not rehired for a second year solely because she is a Communist. They called the action a violation of academic freedom and of the freedom of speech guarantee under the First Amendment.

INFORMED of the regents' long-expected action as she marched outside the State Building in Los Angeles to protest murder charges against some blacks accused of killing a prison guard, Miss Davis attributed it to "my political views."

Gov. Ronald Reagan, outspoken opponent of her retention, stressed that regents didn't fire her but simply decided not to renew her one-year contract.

Miss Davis' supporters, however, have said that

BILL WOULD ESTABLISH CHANNEL ISLANDS PARK

By BILL HOMER Staff Writer

The Channel Islands, once the fabled haunt of fierce warrior women and today a rallying cause for ocean-orientated conservationists, will become a national park if legislation to be submitted Monday by Sen. Alan Cranston is passed into law.

The California Democrat intended to introduce the park bill Friday, but early adjournment of the Senate forced the postponement, an aide reported.

"IN THE FACE of pressures for oil exploration and for speculative subdividing, the islands may not survive the next few years in a condition compatible with future park use," Cranston said in Washington, D.C.

Included in Cranston's bill are the Santa Barbara and Anacapa Islands, now a national monument; San Miguel Island, administered by the Navy; and the privately-owned Santa Rosa and Santa Cruz islands.

Situated from 10 to 50 miles off the coast, the islands stretch from Long Beach to Santa Barbara.

Scheduled for submission to the Senate within the next two weeks is a second measure which seeks funds to purchase San Miguel and Santa Rosa, and finance a feasibility study for establishment of the national park, the Cranston aide said.

The channel islands are separated from the mainland by the Santa Barbara Channel, which extends from Pt. Hueneme to Pt. Concepcion.

CURRENTLY the focal point of presidential inquiries, the channel has been blackened by offshore oil rig spills and has become a cause celebre for Santa Barbara area residents, conservationists and the oil company lobby.

At stake are vast oil deposits beneath the channel floor, and the ecology of both mainland coastal

Crash Kills Another Rackets Trial Witness

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI)

— A government witness on his way to testify at the extortion-conspiracy trial of defeated Newark Mayor Hugh J. Addonizio Friday was killed in an auto accident. The trial of Addonizio and six others was immediately recessed until Monday.

The victim was identified as Paul Anderson, about 65, a vice president of the First Jersey National Bank. The accident took place in West Orange, a Newark suburb and about two miles from the spot where another prospective government witness, Mario T. Gallo, was killed in a similar accident Feb. 10.

Gallo, a key figure in the case and one of its earlier defendants, died the morning after he had agreed to cooperate with federal prosecutors in the case.

Both men died in single-car accidents. Both were alone in their autos when the accidents took place. In both accidents the cars went off the road and slammed into some solid object.

Authorities clamped a tight lid of security on details surrounding the Anderson crash.

West Orange Police Chief Pat De Fazio said the car, a 1967 sedan, had been removed to the West Orange police headquarters to undergo an inspection.

He said the crash occurred just after a medium curve in a 40-mile-an-hour zone. There were no skid marks and apparently no witnesses, the police chief said.

At the time of Gallo's death, there were reports that his accident was the result of mechanical failure. However, his death still is under investigation and his wrecked car remains impounded. Gallo's auto struck an abutment. Anderson's was totally wrecked when it crashed into a tree Friday morning.

The wreckage of Gallo's car was impounded and an investigation started when it was learned from Gallo's attorney that Gallo had met with U.S. Attorney Frederick B. Lacey and his assistant, Jonathan Goldstein, and reportedly agreed to cooperate with the government.

CANADA CONSIDERS LEGAL MARIJUANA

OTTAWA — A federal commission, claiming current laws were "bound to blight the life of some of the nation's most promising youth," is urging Canada to abolish jail terms for possession of marijuana and other drugs, including LSD and heroin. The Canadian government said it would consider eliminating jail terms, which range from suspended six months sentences for first offenders to seven years, for marijuana users but would retain prison sentences for those convicted of possession of hard drugs.

The commission did not recommend liberalization of laws affecting drug pushers and urged that they continue to be prosecuted. The commission report was submitted in Parliament by Health Minister John Munro.

"The commission includes such drugs as heroin, methamphetamines, LSD and so on," Munro said. "This government believes that the current medical and social information does not justify all encompassing changes and will await the completion of the commission's final report with interest." The final report is due May 31, 1977.

Police spokesmen, during hearings held by the commission opposed liberalization of the laws.

Cambodian forces, aided by South Vietnamese air strikes, battled today to hold off Communist troops besieging the province capital of Kompong Thom, 80 miles north of Phnom Penh. While the battle raged at the provincial capital, Vietnamese Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky pledged South Vietnamese troop support for the defense of Phnom Penh itself. The U.S. command said 300 Americans have been killed and 330 wounded in all Cambodian operations since April — with 12 days left before the U.S. withdrawal. The allied commands in Saigon have claimed nearly 12,000 enemy troops killed in the Cambodian fighting. South Vietnamese losses have been put at 768 and 3,326 wounded. Two U.S. Marines were killed and nine others were wounded near Da Nang in an upsurge of fighting involving U.S. troops in South Vietnam. Early today, Communist soldiers firing automatic weapons, rocket grenades and mortars attacked the U.S. 25th Infantry Division's artillery base "Byrd" near Dau Pheng, 40 miles northwest of Saigon.

Heath to Seek 'One Nation'

LONDON — Edward Heath became prime minister Friday night with his Conservative party rejoicing at a majority of 30 seats in the House of Commons. Final standings gave the Conservatives 330 seats, Labour 288, Liberals 6 and other minor parties 6. From 10 Downing Street, Heath told a crowd that his purpose would be "not to divide but to unite." In the phrase of the great Tory predecessor, Disraeli, he said he would seek to create "one nation." Champagne corks popped at some London brokerage offices as financial markets gave the new Conservative government a huge vote of confidence. The stock exchange opened with a burst of buying that brokers described as "colossal."

And public opinion pollsters conducted post mortems, trying to determine how they failed to predict Conservative victory. The Gallup Poll had predicted a 7 per cent Labour margin and Louis Harris a 2 per cent Labour victory.

No Challenge to Soyuz 9

American astronauts are not expected to break the Soviet Union's new 18-day space endurance record at least two and one half years. The first U.S. manned spaceflight longer than that is scheduled for 1978 when the large Skylab space station is launched into an orbit 270 miles high. The first team of astronauts will spend 28 days in the station and subsequent crews each stay aloft for 56 days. Soviet cosmonauts Andrian Nikolayev and Vitaly Sevast'yanov came back to earth Friday in the steps of Kazakhstan, beating the American space endurance record by nearly four days. The two Russians had circled the earth in their Soyuz 9 spacecraft for 17 days, 16 hours and 59 minutes. The Soviet news agency Tass said a spot medical check showed the men suffered no ill effects. The journey surpassed the spaceflight endurance record set five years ago by U.S. astronauts Frank Borman and James Lovell in Gemini 7, a flight that lasted 13 days and 18 hours.

Twelve hours before the Soyuz landing, a secret spy satellite equipped with a TV camera and X-ray sensors was launched by the U.S. toward a lonely outpost high over Southwest Asia—to keep watch on the Soviet Union, Red China and North Vietnam. Its infrared and X-ray sensors will detect the exhaust of a rocket rising off its launch pad; the camera will record and report on troop movements and pinpoint missile bases. The launch was visible to thousands as an Atlas-Agena rocket blazed away from Cape Kennedy, Fla. The superspy was believed headed toward a near stationary orbit about 20,000 miles high over southeast Asia.

U.S. Balks at Saving Penn Central RR

WASHINGTON — The Defense Department late Friday withdrew from a plan to guarantee up to $200 million in bank loans for the Penn Central Railroad. Citing "growing uncertainty" concerning congressional approval of a proposal to transfer the guarantee to the Department of Transportation, Defense said consideration had been given the guarantee proposed by Defense only because there had been "indications by congressional leaders that legislation would be passed promptly" to shift the responsibility to the transportation department. In recent days, members of Congress had become increasingly critical of what they called a request to "bail out" Penn Central, the nation's largest railroad, from financial difficulties the railroad's management should have avoided.

Jackson State Grand Jury Probe

JACKSON, Miss. — The federal government, thwarted in efforts to gain Mississippi Highway Patrol cooperation in its investigation of last month's violence at Jackson State College, announced Friday a special federal grand jury will be convened here June 29 to probe the disorders. "This federal grand jury is expected to make a complete investigation of all aspects surrounding the incident which occurred at Jackson State College May 15 to determine whether or not any federal laws were violated," U.S. Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell said. Two young Negroes were shot to death during the second night of disturbances on the predominantly Negro campus.

Panthers to Rewrite Constitution

WASHINGTON — The Black Panther Party announced Friday that it will sponsor a Revolutionary Peoples' Convention in Philadelphia Sept. 7 to rewrite the U.S. Constitution. The Panther chief of staff, David Hilliard, said the lack of freedom and the lack of protection against police reprisals caused the Panthers to call for a new constitution. The party's minister of information said that the Labor Day convention would be held "right where Benjamin Franklin and the other 'pigs' signed the Declaration of Independence."

Miami Lifts Curfew; Macon Tense

MIAMI — The city lifted its dusk-to-dawn curfew in Negro neighborhoods Friday after some 300 volunteer black peacemakers restored at least temporary calm to a city wracked by four days of racial violence. The peacemakers roamed through slum areas calling for an end to rock throwing, firebombing, looting and sniper fire. Meanwhile, an order to "shoot to kill" any persons engaged in "lawlessness or anarchy" was given to police in Macon, Ga., Friday by Mayor Ronnie Thompson after the Macon Black Liberation Front said it would boycott stores until six demands are met.

Postal Union Authorizes Strike

NEW YORK — Members of the Manhattan and Bronx postal union, which was among the first in the nation to strike last March, authorized its leaders Friday to call another walkout. However, no date was specified, and the likelihood of a strike by the 26,000-member local appeared dim if the postal reform bill passed by the House of Representatives gains final approval. The union denied that the strike authorization was a threat to the U.S. Senate, which now must act on the reform.

Refinery Fire Out of Control

FRANKLIN, Pa. — State police ordered evacuation Friday night of all residents within a quarter-mile radius of a burning oil refinery on the western outskirts of this northwestern Pennsylvania community. Firemen and police also were being pulled out because of danger that oil might spill in French Creek that flows by the refinery—Witco Chemical Co. and known as Amalie refinery and through Franklin. Fire was raging out of control after explosions rocked the plant during the day.

Truckers May Reject Pay Offer

CHICAGO — Ballots won't be counted before June 23 or 24, but union leaders are predicting Chicago truck drivers will "overwhelmingly reject" a proposed settlement of a 10-week strike and lockout. The offer calls for a $1.65-an-hour wage increase and $10 a week in fringe benefits over 45 months. Some 40,000 drivers have been idled by the strike-lockout. Sources estimate business losses at $1 billion and area industrial layoffs at 170,000 workers.

7 Workers Plunge to Death

ALBERT CITY, Iowa — Seven construction workers plunged 130 feet to their deaths Friday when the scaffolding and steel girders of a grain elevator roof collapsed just 15 minutes before the men were to have quit for the day. The accident occurred as the men were pouring concrete at the Farmers Coop elevator.

Final Berth for Liner

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — A little-used pier at Norfolk International Terminals has become the berth, and probably the final resting place, for the $80-million luxury liner International United States. The ship, which still holds a record set 19 years ago for the fastest Atlantic crossing by a passenger liner, was nudged into Pier 2 Friday by four tugboats, its massive power plant idle.

Stans Fires Nixon Critic

Combined News Services

The Nixon Administration's most outspoken advocate of import restrictions, Assistant Commerce Secretary Kenneth N. Davis Jr., was fired Friday after a sharp public attack on three White House advisers.

Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans issued a two-paragraph statement accepting Davis' resignation less than 24 hours after Davis said President Nixon was getting bad advice on legislation to limit imports of textiles and shoes.

"Mr. Davis chose to express his own personal views in New York yesterday on matters relating to certain U.S. policies and the resolution of some questions of international trade," Stans said. "His views do not represent my own or those of the Department of Commerce."

Davis, a former treasurer of International Business Machines Corp., was assistant secretary for domestic and international business. There had been no prior indication that he planned to resign.

Davis, in a speech to a management research meeting in New York, said White House aides Henry A. Kissinger and Peter Flanagan and Chairman Paul W. McCracken of the Council of Economic Advisers were doing a "diservice" to the Nixon by advising opposition to the import control bill.

The measure, drawn up by Chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee, would restrict imports of apparel, textiles and shoes. It is aimed at stopping a flood of low-cost imports from Japan, Korea, Hong Kong and Taiwan.

PRISON

Samuel J. Melville, who a month ago admitted a plot to bomb eight Manhattan office buildings last fall, began a 13-to-18 year prison term Friday after being sentenced in heavily guarded federal and state courtrooms.

The 34-year-old engineering technician gave a clenched-fist salute after hearing the sentence.

Melville pleaded guilty on June 5 to 20 counts of a New York state indictment that accused him of conspiring to bomb the Chase Manhattan Bank, the General Motors building, and the Criminal Courts building last summer and fall.

Melville was said to be the mastermind of the bombing conspiracy, which was uncovered by FBI agents and undercover informants amidst massive bomb scares last November, after an explosion at the Criminal Courts building.

Mayor Joseph Alioto of San Francisco met privately Friday at the Elysee Palace with French President Georges Pompidou, whom he received in San Francisco during Pompidou's U.S. tour last February.

AL CAPP FOR SENATE?

BOSTON — Cartoonist Al Capp said Friday that "hordes of people" have talked to him about running against Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., in the November election.

Capp, 60, also said he had been asked "several months ago by people in New York" to run for the Senate from that state. "I have no idea whether I'll take this any further," said Capp, who said he had been in Washington Wednesday. He refused to comment on reports he met with members of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee.

Peru's military government ordered Friday expulsion from the country of Associated Press bureau chief Joe McGowan Jr. because of an "unreal and offensive description" of Lima that presented the city as prospering because of the arrival of earthquake foreign aid missions.

NO TREMOR

Mao Tse-tung seems to be in good health and gives no sign of senility or any major disability, say Western sources who got a good look at the Red Chinese leader during a recent reception in Peking.

The informants, who saw Mao at close hand during the celebration of China's first earth satellite, noted nothing to support rumors circulating over the past two years that the 76-year-old leader was partly paralyzed, palsied or mentally incapacitated. "There was no sign of any tremor, nothing at all to bear out rumors of palsy or Parkinson's disease," said one report. Mao's handshake was described as firm and his conversation "lucid and coherent."

FULL BENEFITS

The Santa Clara widow of a slain Medal of Honor winner, who is joining the Army herself, will not have to give up the benefits she gained as his survivor.

The Pentagon made that plain Friday. It corrected a report that the widow, Shirley Jean Bellrichard, by her enlistment would forfeit between $350 and $400 a month in Army and other survivor benefits. Her pay as a recruit was put at $124.60.

LEE TO QUIT

Los Angeles County Registrar-Recorder Ray E. Lee announced Friday he will retire at the end of the year, but he denied it was because of criticism of the snafus in the June 2 primary election. "I've even considered staying on now, so as to avoid the appearance of running under fire," Lee said.

POW Kin to March on State Capitol

By MIKE PHILLIS
Staff Writer

Mr. and Mrs. James Bowers were told by the Army on May 12, 1968 — Mother's Day — that their son, Richard, 22, was missing in action in South Vietnam. After two years they still do not know if he is alive or dead.

Shirlee Bouch was told by the Army that her brother, Capt. Charles Boyd, 32, was captured by the Viet Cong on April 22, 1966. He has spent four years in a prisoner of war camp in North Vietnam, and the Army still does not know if or when he will be released.

Mrs. Bowers, of 2851 E. 69 St., and Mrs. Bouch, 4455 Myrtle Ave., will be among 60 Southlanders flying to Sacramento Tuesday to see Gov. Ronald Reagan concerning relatives missing in action or in prisoner of war camps in Vietnam.

Added to the 60 persons from Southern California will be 60 or more relatives of missing and captured servicemen from Northern California and Arizona.

Tuesday morning a bill-board reading "Hanoi Release the Prisoners" will be placed near the Capitol. Later the group will march to the Capitol carrying signs asking Hanoi to release the prisoners. Children will carry pictures of their fathers.

Gov. Reagan has agreed to meet with the group to hear their requests for more government pressure on Hanoi. During the day they will meet with Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke, Senate President pro tem Jack Schrade and various state senators and assemblymen.

"We are just trying to make people aware of the situation so they will continue to write letters to their representatives in Congress and to the president of North Vietnam," said Mrs. Bowers. "I guess letters are the only thing that helps."

"The least Hanoi can do is release a list of captives," she added. "It seems like very little to ask."

Before the Vietnam war, no American prisoner of war was held for longer than three years and eight months. Some American military prisoners have been held in Hanoi for more than seven years.

Seldom is communication between relatives and prisoners allowed and often North Vietnam waits several years before notifying the government that a soldier was captured and is in prison.

"We hope to get some political action through the state government and ultimately through the federal government," Mrs. Bouch said. "Through political action we hope we can obtain a concession from Hanoi for a freer flow of information."

"Political leaders have been quite helpful and understanding in the past,"

Mrs. Bouch continued. "And by focusing attention on our plight we hope all the people get behind us and put worldwide pressure on Hanoi."

L.A. Basin Must Cut Sky Pollution to HEW Standard

By GILBERT BAILEY
Contributing Editor

Sulphur dioxide pollution of the Los Angeles basin skies must be reduced by 64 per cent to meet new air quality standards to be announced today by outgoing Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Robert H. Finch.

At the same time basin skies must be cleared of 54 per cent of the present particulate (small pieces of dirt) pollution to meet a second standard approved by Finch.

New regulations must be developed under federal supervision to meet these standards and to reduce current air pollution.

In the San Francisco Bay Area 43 per cent of the sulphur dioxide and 31 per cent of the particulates must be removed.

ROUSELOT, McCOLL RECOUNT

Two Los Angeles County precinct boards started Friday a recount by hand of ballots in the 24th Congressional District special election involving John Rouselet and Dr. Bill McColl.

The precinct boards started at 8 a.m. and by noon had completed eight precincts out of an assignment of 537.

According to the computer tally, former Congressman John Rouselet won the election to fill an unexpired term left open by the death of Glenard P. Lipscomb. If those results stand, he will face Myrlie Evers, the Democratic candidate, in a June 30 runoff for six-month term.

The registrar-recorder's computer tally gave this result: Rouselet 39,505, McColl 37,735. McColl asked for the hand count.

McColl lost the regular Republican primary for the two-year Congressional post to Rouselet by 53 votes.

UNLOADING HALTED Smoldering Cargo Erupts on Ship

By JACK O. BALDWIN
Maritime Editor

Smoldering scrap steel shavings aboard the Norwegian bulk carrier MV Pontos turned into a Vesuvius of molten metal Friday and forced dockmen unloading the fire-plagued vessel to reseal the No. 4 hold.

Port of Los Angeles officials and owners of the vessel decided Thursday to unload the 8,000 tons of pigtail-shaped lathe turnings after firemen had spent two days in a futile effort to squelch and cool the fire with carbon dioxide.

The volcano-like flareups Friday were caused by a new supply of air hitting the intensely hot metal cargo as it was scooped out of the No. 4 hold by the clam-shell bucket of a gantry crane. The sizzling metal scraps were emptied onto a fleet of dump trucks and hauled to an open area on Berth 49 in the outer harbor.

The ship's master, Capt. Ansgar Carlsen, said

Immaculate Heart Won't Join Claremont

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lack of funds and "a kind of grounds-weep" to stay in Los Angeles have canceled Immaculate Heart College's plans to move to suburban Claremont.

The decision to affiliate with the Claremont Colleges, postponed on the eve of ground-breaking in May, was reversed partly due to student-faculty pressure and to "develop a truly urban liberal arts college," Immaculate Heart president Helen Kelly said Friday.

6 More Growers Sign Grape Pact

Associated Press

Six more Imperial Valley table grape growers have signed contracts with a farm workers' union, its officials say, the largest

The six firms brought to 16 the number of ranches to have signed contracts with the AFL-CIO United Farm Workers Organizing Committee calling for a $1.75 hourly salary minimum and 25 cents a box incentive pay.

The new contracts were announced in Indio Friday by Richard Chavez, brother of veteran union leader Cesar Chavez. The younger Chavez said the three-year contracts also call for employers to pay money toward medical care and a pension plan.

The 16 firms represent about half the 7,100 acres used to grow table grapes in the valley. But an estimated 93 per cent of California's table grape industry remains nonunion. A boycott against the non-union produced table grapes continues.

Chavez said the new growers to sign are Mel-Pak, Bobara Ranch, Hopper Ranch, Laffin and Laffin, Eckman and Bender, and the Gimian Ranch.

REGENTS' EYE CONTROL OF UC PAPERS

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A resolution calling for controls on student newspapers which publish obscene pictures or editorial matter was tabled for one month Friday by the University of California Board of Regents.

The air was blue with four-letter words as regent John E. Canaday of Burbank read aloud from various newspapers and graphically described pictures therein of nude men and women.

Reagan Officials to Ask School Aid

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Reagan administration is writing school finance legislation that would provide up to $150 million in extra state aid to local education without new taxes, it was learned Friday.

Top-level officials, who wrapped specifics of the proposal in a cloak of tight confidentiality, stressed the program is still in the drafting stage.

Legislative leaders are expected to be briefed on the details Monday.

Democrats in both the Assembly and Senate have assailed what they call the administration's failure to

Budget: Pleas for Cut Items

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A parade of legislators pleaded their cases Friday for restoration of cut special interest projects in the second day of closed-door negotiations on Gov. Ronald Reagan's slashed $6.47 billion 1970-71 state budget.

"We're just getting started and trying our best to convince them that the money isn't there," said Assemblyman Frank Lanterman, chairman of the six member Senate-Assembly conference committee called to break the budget deadlock.

Twenty-five senators and assemblymen appeared before the committee Friday.

Lanterman, R-La. Canada, said he had no idea how long the conference committee formed Thursday would work before recommending budget compromises to the two houses.

He said they would adjourn until early Monday morning, and then "work straight through until we have a budget."

The constitutional deadline for adoption of the budget is June 30, but a committee report is expected long before then and may be followed by further conferences or formation of a new conference committee if the first one deadlocks.

BUILDING FOR POOR Bay Area Students Practice Religion

PARLIER (AP) — Twenty students from the Bay Area communities of Orinda and Moraga leave here today, some bearing calluses, after putting their religion to practice for a week as carpenters.

They helped Mexican-Americans build their own homes. The high school and college students each contributed $35 of their own money to make the trip. Many also delayed the start of their summer jobs.

"Religion, for young people at least, is changing from just attending church every Sunday," said Dean Ruddell, 19.

"POINTING to others busy sawing planks and pounding nails, he added: 'Religion is what we are doing here, going out and doing something for someone else.'"

The 14 girls and six men, members of various churches in their Northern California hometowns, worked at self-help projects west of this Central Valley community and in Madera.

HIGHER THE MERCURY, TALLER THE STORIES

BARSTOW (AP) — "I've seen glasses of water boil away before I could get them to my lips. I've gotten blisters on my feet just thinking of going for a stroll. I've known my hair to move by itself to cover up the part so my scalp wouldn't burn."

It gets mighty hot in this desert town on the main road between Los Angeles and Las Vegas, and with summer coming on Charley Anthony was telling tales.

He says one of his greatest pleasures is watching tourists step from air conditioned cars — and wilt.

"This is the hottest place in the world in July and August," he said. "I don't care if you go to the Sahara or the Libyan desert or what they claim down in Arizona. This is it."

Anthony offered no figures, but he said that when he goes to fry an egg on a hot rock, he catches it just before it hits if he wants it done only medium.

Anthony was one of several citizens polled by a newsmen on the subject of heat. Some of the answers would short circuit a lie detector, but what they lacked in veracity they made up in verve.

Reagan Underplay of High Negro Hiring Ratio Cited

By BOB HOUSER

Three young Reagan campaigners have told Republicans women here the governor "makes it kind of rough to convert blacks to the Republican Party" because he modestly refuses to make an issue of his attention to them.

Mel Bradley, a black community relations consultant for Reagan, told the Long Beach Evening Division, Republican Women Federated, that Reagan has made more appointments from the minority community than any governor in California history. He spoke Thursday.

Bob Hogeboom, field representative for the political management firm of Spencer-Roberts, said Reagan has appointed 150 per cent more blacks than the previous administration but when he is asked why he doesn't hold a press conference to point it out, he replies, "Maybe I'm not that kind of politician."

Hogeboom said Reagan staff people know this fact "and I'm sure the press knows."

Carlos Galindo, Reagan's assistant Southern California campaign director, said that Reagan, rather than appointing special campaign committees of minority groups, tries to integrate all such committees. For example, his lawyers and educators committees will have minority representation on them roughly reflective of the makeup of the community from which they come.

Hogeboom and Galindo disagreed on where the new 18-year-old vote would go if it becomes a fact. Hogeboom said, "It's fairly obvious it will hurt the Republican Party. Students are just against the Republican Party."

But Galindo insisted that the kids "will not be swayed by hypocrisy and lies; they'll find the truth one way or another. I think the 18-year-old vote will help us."

Hogeboom said all politicians have a major concern about the political impact of the youth movement. He said a major part of Reagan's campaign strategy for the November election will be "establishing closer relationships with students."

But he said the target group is the vast majority of nonviolent, nonmilitant students which he hopes will assert their rights to peaceful pursuit of study on campuses.

Tragedy of Viet War Related by Flournoy

The Vietnam War is "a tragic event in American history" even if the Cambodian campaign "proves to be a total success" and expedites complete American withdrawal from Indochina, State Controller Houston I. Flournoy said in Long Beach Friday night.

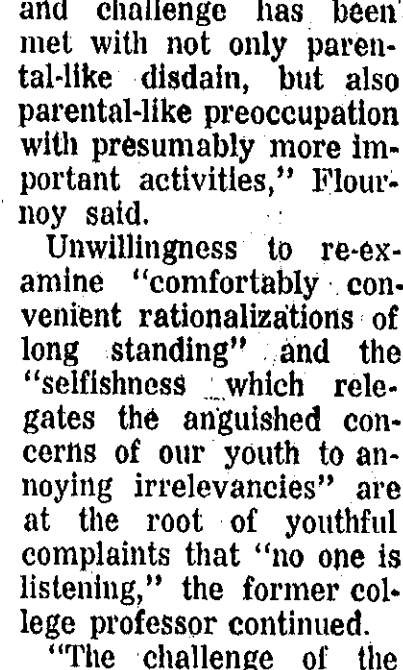

Keynote speaker at a dinner meeting at the Virginia Country Club sponsored by the Long Beach Bar Association and the Barristers Club, Flournoy said the war "has graphically demonstrated that perhaps we are losing our ability for humility, candor, empathy, and that most devastating destroyer of false pride — the capacity to admit error."

HE ALSO said the favors giving the vote to 18 year-olds and believes there is a growing trend for youth to work within the system.

"The confrontation with youth over Vietnam demonstrates, to me, that in great part their concern and challenge has been met with not only parental-like disdain, but also parental-like preoccupation with presumably more important activities," Flournoy said.

Unwillingness to re-examine "comfortably convenient rationalizations of long standing" and the "selfishness which relegates the anguished concerns of our youth to annoying irrelevances" are at the root of youthful complaints that "no one is listening," the former college professor continued.

Sen. Murphy 'Planned to Quit' Before Firing

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., said Friday he intended to sever his relationship with Technicolor in advance of this week's ouster of the management in a proxy fight.

Murphy's $20,000-a-year association as a director and consultant to the Hollywood-based movie producing firm became an issue in the June 2 California Primary, in which he was nominated for a second term.

Murphy announced his resignation as a member of the board of directors late Thursday after an insurgent group gained control of the board after the month-long proxy battle.

However, William K. McKenna, the new board chairman, had already said in New York earlier in the day that Murphy's relationships had been severed.

In a statement issued Friday, Murphy said he had decided to leave the company in advance of Thursday's developments and had prepared to announce his plan as soon as the proxy fight ended.

"I had come to this decision not because there had been any impropriety in my association with this company, but because it had been continuously aired in some segments of the public press for obvious political motives," Murphy said.

"This is the first time in 40 years of public life that my personal character and integrity have ever been challenged and I intend to do everything I can to make certain that my good name and the good name of my family is preserved."

Murphy also was criticized for having the firm pay half the cost of his $520-a-month Washington apartment and allowing him use of an air travel credit card.

Murphy has repeatedly denied any conflict of interest, and the Senate Ethics Committee, which looked into the relationship at Murphy's request, found nothing improper.

Murphy said he has found another apartment in Washington and has returned the credit card. He still retains some stock in the company.

McKenna, a Beverly Hills investor, had been chief executive of Norton Simon Inc., until he resigned last year. Norton Simon, industrialist and art collector, ran unsuccessfully against Murphy in the June primary.

JOB TO DO NOW

DON'T WORRY about rose leaves yellowing periodically. This condition occurs after each blooming period. As some of the lower leaves yellow, the oncoming new growth replaces them.

MATURE ivy leaf geranium or any of the varieties of ground covers that are kept too moist, tend to suffer from a bacterial disease. The ivy geranium leaves wilt and die. The ivy foliage develops circular spots. Gardeners should water such ground covers only as they need it.

There's an easier way

You don't need a lot of different insecticides to kill off the various insects that are bugging your garden. All it takes is one product... Spectracide®.

Spectracide (with Diazinon®) controls virtually every insect known to gardens. Mites, ants, chinch bugs, aphids, leaf miners are just a few examples.

Protect your lawn, shrubs, flowers, fruits and vegetables with Spectracide. Available in liquid concentrate, granular or pressurized spray, at your nursery or garden supply center.

GARDENING

By JOE LITTLEFIELD

Tree azaleas grow just as easily as do bush azaleas, providing they are planted properly, watered thoroughly, fed periodically, and pruned at the right time. They, and the bush azaleas can be planted out almost any time of the year, except during frosty cold and heavy rain spells.

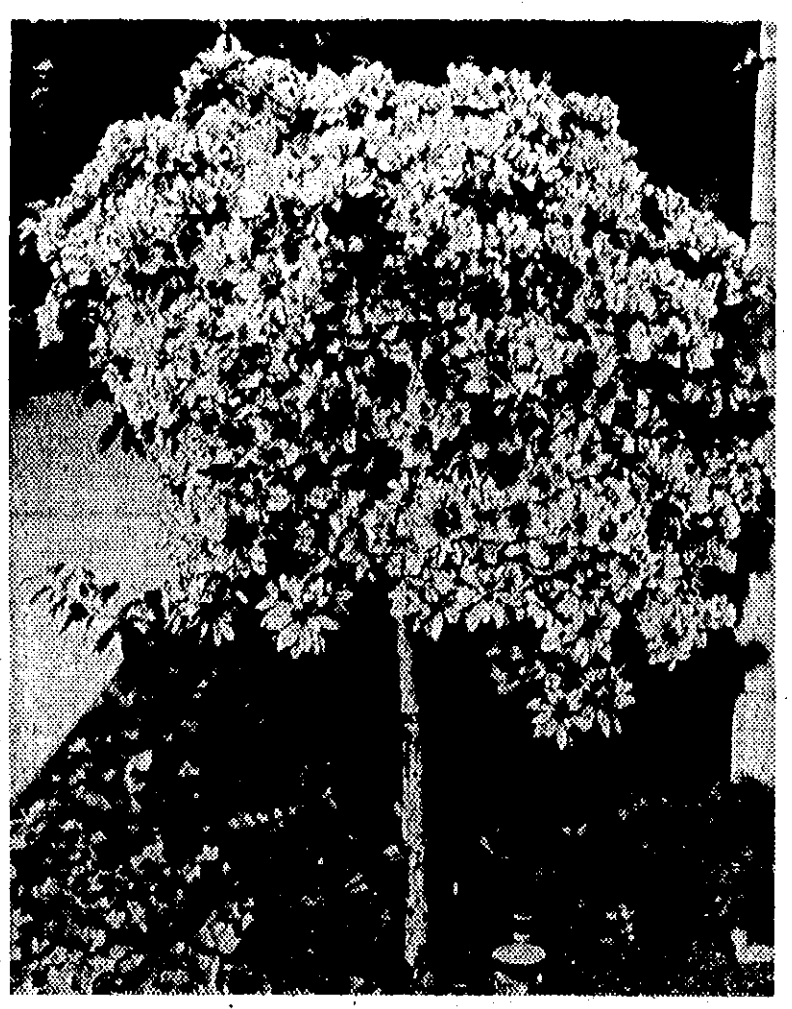

Proper planting involves setting them out in the same growing medium in which they grew in the containers. Most wholesale azalea growers use sphagnum peat moss, but some now prefer the German peat moss which has a coarser texture.

THE PEAT moss should be moistened before use. The gardener should be able to squeeze a few drops of moisture from a handful of it. An azalea plant allowed to get too dry in an all-peat-moss planting cannot absorb the water from a normal deep watering of the plant. The plant has to be dug up and dunked in a tub of water to re-soak the root ball, then replanted in the ground.

Planter mix formulated for azaleas, rhododendron, camellias and shade plants is a safer material for the gardener to set those plants in, because one-half of the mix contains two parts of fine ground bark. This is mixed with the other half which is sphagnum peat moss. The bark in the mixture quickly absorbs the water it can hold. The peat moss mixed with it gradually absorbs the mixture from the bark, and the whole root-ball plant area gets the maximum watering.

The plant hole should be twice the width of the root ball and two to four inches deeper than the length of the root ball.

The gardener should cut through the thick mass of fine roots of the outer portion of the root ball and across the bottom, then knead the root ball to loosen it. Dunk the root ball in a bucket of water to be sure it is thoroughly moist. Finger firm the peat moss or the mix. A well-firmed planted azalea plant requires much more time for the water to slowly soak throughout the roots area. Watering in this way helps the plant to grow well. One of the main secrets of healthy — growing azaleas involves watering. The plants must get proper thirst-slaking drinks of water. Such thorough waterings also tend to prevent possible alkali buildup in the roots area, and eliminates the necessity of having to use one of the irons, or soil conditioners.

Q. My small lemon tree, purchased two years ago, bore only two or three lemons. The tree was planted in prepared soil. It grew well next year but all blossoms dropped off before they ripened. It lost almost all foliage and I thought it was dying. I cared for it by watering and feeding. This spring it had lots of leafage growth and blooms, but they fell or dried up like sample enclosed. The tree was not overwatered or underfertilized. It is blooming but looks like it will again drop its blossoms. What is the reason, and is there anything I can do about it? E. O.

A. Usually it takes about three years for a citrus, given good care, to reach maturity and bear fruit. Your sample leafage is heavily infested with spider mites, which can damage the flower base — an additional cause for buds drying and dropping. Soak your soil well. Spray it with an insecticide that lists "spider mites" on the label. Or, you can use an oil emulsion spray (horticultural) and spray the tree as directed. But don't use the oil spray if the temperature is above 80 degrees. Spray the moist soil all around the tree.

Why is

TERR-O-VITE

TODAY'S BIG VALUE ?

It's the answer to modern gardening the complete fertilizer PLUS

TERR-O-VITE supplies the important nutrients all plants must have to thrive.

TERR-O-VITE contains elements that enter into the manufacture of vital root-forming enzymes and also reduces transplanting shock.

TERR-O-VITE's heavy concentration of Chelating Agents plus Chelated Iron, Zinc and Manganese help to prevent and cure Chlorosis (yellow foliage) induced by high concentrations of alkali in soil or water.

TERR-O-VITE's chemical reactions in the soil break down Adobe, Caliche, Hardpan and Alkali soils so they can be broken with a trowel instead of a tractor.

TERR-O-VITE's Water-Water principle saves water and fertilizer by reducing runoff.

LONG BEACH, CALIFORNIA, SATURDAY, JUNE 20, 1970

SEVEN MODEL HOMES OPEN AT LOS VERDES ESTATES' CENTER . . . Ranging to 3,248 Square Feet, Attractive U-Shaped Kitchens

Zuckerman-Built Los Verdes Estates Open Today

Edward K. Zuckerman and Sons, involved in the construction and sale of more than $105 million worth of real estate on the Palos Verdes Peninsula in the last 15 years, are holding a grand opening today at their newest community, the $18 million Los Verdes Estates, Los Verdes Estates, when completed in 1972, will have 292 ocean-view homes. Today Zuckerman is opening the first unit of 49 homes, priced from $55,750 to $83,500.

Seven model homes are open at the model center, located at the corner of Verde Ridge Road and Hawthorne Boulevard. Exteriors are available in the traditional Spanish style of the peninsula as well as Cape Cod, California contemporary and traditional styles.

Most master suites include both shower and tub enclosures, as well as walk-in closets.

The kitchens are U-shaped with built-in range and oven (choice of gas or electric), dishwasher, pantry and pass-through window and counter to the patio area.

Between the floors, Zuckerman and Sons have included soundproofing. All attic and roof areas are insulated.

Zuckerman and Sons are well known on the Palos Verdes Peninsula, where the firm has constructed almost 3000 homes.

"A large percentage of our sales have stemmed from the personal relations established with former homebuyers," said Stephen D. Zuckerman, the firm's executive vice president.

DIRECTOR of sales Jack Meredith explained that 16 per cent of the buyers have purchased more than one Zuckerman-built home and over 40 per cent of sales have been attributed to referrals.

In addition to this group of homes, two new units in nearby sectors of the peninsula are under construction.

One is called the "bird's-eye unit" named for its views of the coastline, Catalina and other Channel Islands. The homes at this location are somewhat smaller than those of Los Verdes Estates, with prices beginning at $49,600.

A third increment of larger homes and lots is at the firm's new "Coast unit." Many of the 21 homes there are six bedroom plans and are priced in the $60,000 range.

ZUCKERMAN and Sons also are building more than 300 homes in the $40,000 range at two home-site locations in Canoga Park, Valley Circle Estates and Top O' Platt.

Los Verdes Estates are built on lots that offer views of the Santa Monica and Malibu coastline as well as Catalina Island.

The builders emphasize that the Palos Verdes Peninsula, jutting out from the Los Angeles basin, rarely has smog because of its coastal location, elevation (Continued on Page 6)

Lake Riverside Estates' Price Range From $6,000

The unveiling of Lake Riverside Estates again dramatically showcases the dedication of Robert Beaumont to the concepts of environmental preservation.

This is the same young developer who inaugurated his first in a series of successful conservation oriented recreational communities over four years ago, long before the concern over ecology and conservation became a prime national pastime.

Under his creative supervision, R. J. Beaumont & Associates, a division of World Leisure Time, has gently blended white sand beaches, a mountain valley lake teeming with fresh water game fish, rolling meadows, magnificent rock formations, miles of equestrian trails and a natural migratory bird flyway, into the 3,200-acre recreational community of Lake Riverside.

THIS recreational community has already been made famous by Beaumont's decision to preserve the last remaining herd of buffalo on the Southern California mainland within a special "buffalo park."

Framed by the soaring San Geronimo Mountain range, the San Bernardino National Forest forms the east boundary of Lake Riverside, while Mt. Palomar and Cleveland National Forest lie to the south.

TO BE established as a private community of 2½ acre estates, ranging in price from $6,000, Lake Riverside has been designed to contain a 4300-foot paved FAA approved airstrip, a $100,000 lakeside pavilion, over 30 miles of equestrian trails, and other equestrian facilities.

The privacy of Lake Riverside will be accentuated by a massive entrance gate, constructed of native stone and rough hewn beams reminiscent of the early California haciendas.

In all, Lake Riverside will encompass 1,074 estate sites. The vast majority are designed for single-unit residences, while approximately 114 sites are devoted to multi-residence construction.

Lake Riverside is located approximately 2½ hours freeway - highway driving from Los Angeles. The main office is at 310 North San Vicente Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif., 90048.

THE HOMES range in size from 2371 to 3248 square feet, all two-story designs. Depending on the plan, the Los Verdes Estates homes have from four to six bedrooms, two or three baths, powder room, family room, dining room, service room and either two or three car garages.

Every plan has a wet bar that serves two rooms. Some master bedroom suites measure up to 13x20 feet with many having private baths and dressing room areas just as large.

THE BATHS have two oval marble top basins, compartmented toilets, tile showers and bathtubs.

Construction Under Way on New Gemco-Signal Hill

Construction began this week on a $3 million Gemco Membership Store on a nine-acre site at California Avenue and Atlantic Avenue, Signal Hill.

The 22nd store in the growing chain, the 106,000-square-foot structure is being built by Ernest W. Hahn, Inc., general contractors, Hawthorne.

Construction is of split-faced masonry block with the exception of the front elevation where a low glazed brick facade will support a dramatic clear story glass wall. Additional design details of the entrance include a large canopy supported by two huge masonry columns.

Texture of the masonry walls will be highlighted after dark by concealed lighting units in a continuous sculptured metal frieze.

TARGETED for completion in late fall, the store will offer a complete line of department store merchandise plus a large supermarket, an auto service center, cleaning and laundry service, patio and garden shop, optometrist, pharmacy, snack bar and gas station.

Extensive landscaping will decorate paved parking facilities for nearly 600 cars.

As a membership department store, Gemco caters exclusively to its members who pay $1 for life-time membership and a substantial portion of the membership fee revenue is returned to the community in the form of college scholarships and donations to worthwhile charities.

Landau in Butterfield Country Is Recipe for Relaxation

By ROBERT BECKMAN

Recipe:

Take one Landau Motor Home and blend into generously shaded space at Butterfield Country. Add one family searching for clean, clear air.

Result:

A blissful experience in modernized camping.

The new Landau Model

250 —25 feet long and 92 inches wide —spells mobility with comfort. It is produced by RV Industries, 2220 "E. Cerritos Ave., Anaheim.

This author stumbled onto the above recipe quite accidentally.

Robert G. Hill, president of R V Industries, suggested a personal road-and-camping test of a new unit fresh off the assembly line at the firm's modern plant.

Simultaneously, representatives of Butterfield Country, the newly expanded and thoroughly rustic "living on wheels" resort near Temecula, put out the welcome mat.

AN orientation tour of the new Landau 250 is impressive. Its exterior design displays an elegance of Old World craftsmanship. There's not one sharp, box-like exterior corner to mar the classic contours.

Stepping inside, it's apparent this is a luxurious family apartment, which is, in the words of Hill: "Spacious where desirable, compact where mandatory."

The dinette seats four and converts quickly into a double bed. Twin beds (couches by day), plus fold-away overhead bunks, makes total sleeping accommodations for six.

STANDOUT feature is the 250's apartment sized bathroom — complete with water closet, basin, shower and tub.

Ducted heat, from a forced-air furnace, in the bathroom is included in all Landau models.

A wardrobe with chest of drawers and overhead cabinets provide ample storage for clothing, supplies and recreation equipment.

The 250's galley is a model of compact efficiency, especially a 7-cubic-foot gas-electric refrigerator with separate freezer compartment.

By this time, my eye was on the high-backed bucket seat provided for the driver. The huge windshield area, it was quickly evident, provided picture-window views for at least 160 degrees.

A WALK around the Landau allows a close look at the full shell of tough fiberglass with a single-unit molded roof section — for watertight integrity.

The front exterior access to radiator, oil dipstick, oil fill pipe and batteries is something every service station employee has dreamed.

Constructed on a special Dodge chassis with automatic transmission, power brakes and power steering, Landau units are engineered for good maneuverability in both urban and highway traffic, Hill said.

The orientation was complete. Now it was time to drive this pride from RV.

The V-8 engine, with 413-cubic-inch displacement, purred at the touch of the starter.

WESTWARD along Cerro the 250. It didn't take long. The speed was kept low to "get the feel" of Swinging onto State College Boulevard, the big motor home handled much like a luxury car.

With personal belongings and groceries stored away, the 250 was pointed onto the Riverside Freeway. It responded quickly to both accelerator and to brakes.

At Corona, we turned south on Highway 71 and, relaxing even more, enjoyed the panoramas of Elsinore and Rancho California. Just south of Temecula (Continued on Page 5)

LANDAU 250 ADDS BEAUTY to serene tree-shaded Site 294 at Butterfield Country. Wading and swimming pools are near and, a healthy walk away, is Village Square providing movies, games for children and shopping for adults.

THE MANY FACES OF CHARLES DOOLEY . . . Reflect Vigor in Business, Interest in Civic Projects, Faith in Future

Dooley's Hardware---50 Years Old, Growing

By ROBERT BECKMAN
Business-Real Estate Editor

Three years ago, during a heated councilmanic campaign a new slogan was born: "Do It With Dooley."

Like most campaign slogans, this one faded away after the election, to be remembered only when old newspaper clippings are spread out for research.

Charles Dooley won that campaign—with the same fervor he had guided his hardware store in North Long Beach from a little-known appliance outlet to a bustling business more resembling a department store.

About the time his campaign slogan was being forgotten a new one — this one a spontaneous offering from satisfied customers — was being voiced more often.

"Get it at Dooley's!" It came as free advice, as a friendly order, as a veiled promise you would waste time searching elsewhere.

You can hear it anywhere. I've heard it in Orange County — from neighbors.

DOOLEY, 60, WITH GRAY-WHITE hair that tends to be unruly, remembers tough lessons learned as a child in Scottsbluff, Neb., still a struggling pioneer area with many years to go before oil strikes were to bring money and sophistication.

He was graduated from Poly High (his parents moved to Long Beach when he was 8) and, aged 20, he suddenly was to assume all the burdens of manhood — and the Dooley store — upon his father's death.

Young Dooley energetically began shaping the store's future, planning for expansions. He devoted his "spare" time to civic projects, showing immense interest in North Long Beach commercial projects.

Both the area and Dooley's Hardware prospered. Appliance companies took second looks at their books — and then looked again. Dooley's, an often expanding outlet in Long Beach was fourth, then second in sales of their specific items.

And, then, Dooley's was at the top — selling more of their goods than any other retail outlet in the West or, sometimes, in the nation.

Tucked away in old newspaper clips are the verifiers: "L.B. Dealer Wins Las Vegas Trip;" "Hardware Man Wins Trip" and "Awarded Trip to Mexico."

I WAS INVITED TO LAS VEGAS two years ago to a Philco-Ford showing to its Western dealers of its new line of appliances.

Charles Dooley was accorded particular attention and I soon was to learn why. His store was selling the biggest volume of Philco appliances in the West.

We were the guests of the company at a show on the trip that night. I was seated next to Dooley. I did manage to eat most of my dinner. I saw little of the show.

Reason: Dooley was painting a verbal picture for me of the future of his store — of North Long Beach — and of the city. And I had to agree: what he said seemed more important than that on the stage.

At one point I told him I had searched for weeks for hard-to-get pulldown light glass and, after being told to "Get it at Dooley's," I had visited the store and quickly had my glass.

"Should have gone there first!" Dooley said, eyes twinkling.

TWO WEEKS AGO, I was the guest of RCA at its City of Commerce distribution center. Its executives talked in detail of the market, of tight money, of increased competition in sales — and how RCA is meeting that challenge.

At lunch I learned of one retail dealer to which RCA points with pride: Charles Dooley, "the dealer in Long Beach who consistently shows the way in volume selling."

That Dooley is individualistic, sometimes to the point of seeming obstinate, is an accepted fact among his friends, his employees and business acquaintances. It was that way while he served as a councilman.

What of his reception to the RCA sales rep, we wondered aloud at the luncheon.

"We have a young chap calling on Dooley," came the reply, "who isn't only calling on Dooley Hardware to tell Dooley what RCA can do for the store, but he is listening."

"He has adopted the idea for learning, perhaps, what Dooley can do for him — and for RCA."

THIS IS THE 50TH ANNIVERSARY of the Dooley store.

Dooley remembers rushing to the establishment after classes at Jane Addams School to work behind his father's counter. He was the lone employee.

Dooley's Hardware now employs 250.

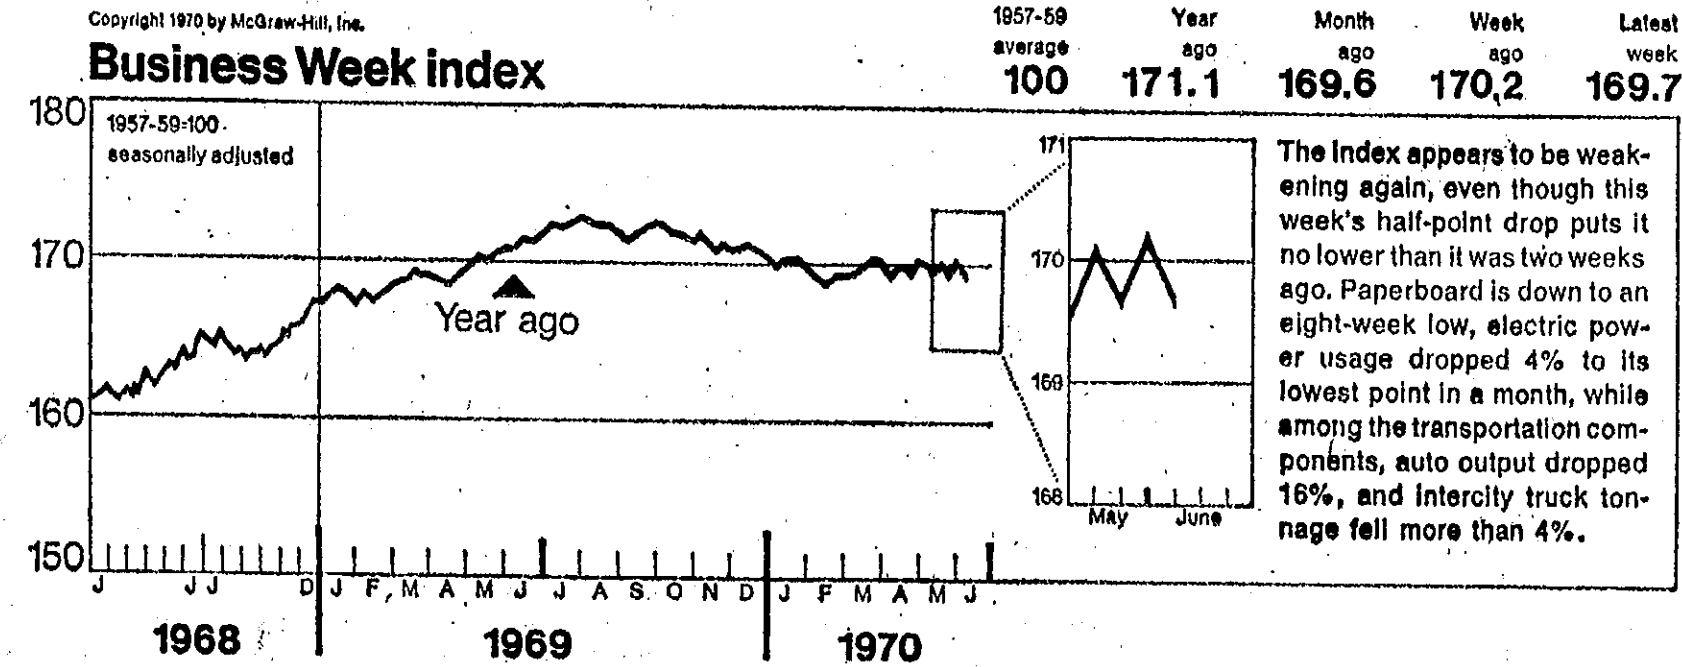

The original store boasted about 2,500 square feet. Today, after almost continuous expansion during the post-war years, the store and existing warehouse covers 250,000 square feet.

This month, workmen will begin erecting another warehouse just to the south of the Dooley complex. It will add another 15,000 square feet.

Fifty years ago, the store was doing $750 business a month. Now it's at the $1 million mark each month, says Dooley.

What does Dooley foresee for his huge distribution center?

"We're running 20 per cent over last year, despite the monetary situation," Dooley says proudly. "In the next three years we will double our business."

Chartline Runs Well Below Year Ago

The 0.3 per cent decline in this week's Index, brings the chartline to a point 0.8 per cent below the year ago level.

Auto production plummeted 16.2 per cent in the current week, compared to the four-day work period of Memorial Day week. Despite this week's drop, production figures still rose 0.1 per cent above a year ago, and sales of autos are beginning to show increases.

Steel output gained 1.6 per cent — down 5.1 per cent below a year ago.

Crude oil refinery runs were up 1.3 per cent, reflecting increased jet fuel orders from the Defense Department. Electric power output fell 4.0 per cent.

Miscellaneous carloadings rose 4.0 per cent, responding to hikes in pulp and paper products. All other carloadings gained 4 per cent — due, in part, to gains in coal loading. Intercity truck tonnage fell 4.1 per cent. Paperboard production lost 2.6 per cent.

Los Angeles Quarters Announced for West's Commodity Exchange

Quarters have been selected for the West Coast Commodity Exchange, first major commodity exchange in the West which was announced a week ago.

One of the founders, Arnold D. Kamen, said this week the exchange has signed a long-term lease for the ninth and tenth floors of 643 S. Olive St., Los Angeles, covering approximately 13,000 square feet.

He noted that the building is being completely rebuilt to meet the requirements of the exchange.

One of the original proponents of the West Coast Commodity Exchange, Kamen is a commodity broker with regional offices in New York, Dallas, Minneapolis, San Jose and Chicago. Several of his firm's offices are also located in southern California.

KAMEN is a member of the Chicago Mercantile Exchange, the Chicago Board of Trade, the New York Cotton and Sugar Exchange and the New York Commodity Exchange.

According to Kamen, a feasibility survey conducted for the new exchange indicated that approximately 200,000 individuals are actively trading in commodity futures in the 11 western states.

Establishment of the West Coast Commodity Exchange, he said, will fulfill the need of hedgers, traders, speculators and commission houses to consummate trades immediately on the floor of the exchange.

"There is no substitute for actively trading on an instant basis," Kamen pointed out.

ANOTHER advantage the new exchange will offer traders in the west, Kamen explained, is the two to three hour time differential between the west coast and the exchanges in the east and midwest.

"This time advantage," he said, "will strengthen a trader's ability to avoid losses or make gains based on the activity in the eastern markets."

Kamen also claimed that the West Coast Commodity Exchange would "add new dimensions and stature to the Southern California financial marketplace."

Explained Kamen: "Funds now used by traders to purchase commodity futures are deposited in the financial institutions in the east and midwest. Trading on the West Coast Commodity Exchange will keep that capital in Southern California and halt the financial drain that is now taking place daily."

"BECAUSE of the tremendous trading and public activity in commodity futures in this area, more than 25 new firms dealing in futures and commodities have been formed in Los Angeles since 1960. Eighteen of these companies engage in commodity trading exclusively."

During this same period, Kamen noted, trading volume on the nation's major U.S. commodity exchanges has quadrupled.

"Last year, trading in all commodities and contracts for future delivery totalled $75 billion and is currently exceeding $100 billion annually," he declared.

"The steadily rising interest and activity in the commodity futures market by brokers and their customers is no accident," said Kamen. "On the one hand, many customers find that trading in this market is a hedge against inflation while others are attracted to commodity futures because of the opportunity for substantial percentage gains plus the advantage of greater leverage for each dollar invested."

KAMEN said: "Commodity futures serve a basic need to protect against sudden changes in the value of agricultural products and industrial goods for ranchers, farmers, processors, manufacturers, retailers and, most importantly, consumers."

Trading in commodity futures began centuries ago in order to establish prices for seasonal and storable goods. Later, crops like wheat, corn and cotton were sold by contracts involving users and hedgers.

During the past decade the concept of trading seasonal commodities has expanded to include durable goods produced on a year-round basis. Copper and silver are typical of such commodities.

Non-storable goods such as fresh eggs, live hogs and cattle on the hoof are now traded regularly. Last year plywood joined a growing list of goods traded on the nation's major commodity exchanges.

5 Homes Remain at El Dorado Estates

El Dorado Estates in Long Beach, developed by S&S Construction Company, a Division of Shapell Industries, has just five homes left (including one beautifully decorated model) before it will be completely sold out.

The closeout of this prestige community of executive-oriented homes represents the culmination of another achievement for S&S Construction.

To this date, S&S has built more than 14,000 award-winning quality homes in Southern California.

THESE five single story and split level homes offer three to six bedrooms and such amenities as landscaping, shag carpeting throughout the house, deluxe wet bars, formal dining rooms, all electric kitchens and genuine lath and plaster.

Nearby are shopping centers, recreation facilities, and schools.

Homes range from $40,950 with excellent financing available.

Take the San Diego Freeway to Studebaker, north on Studebaker to Spring and turn right.

Heltzer-Built Mesa Woods Selling Quickly; Plan More

Among the many pitfalls that beset the first-time homebuyer, buying a home for the wrong reason can be the most costly, warns George J. Heltzer, a residential builder who in the past 45 years has built and sold more than 25,000 homes to Southern California buyers.

"First-time buyers — whether we're talking about the ex-GI family headed by a young fellow still in his twenties or the mature couple in the fifties — find themselves in a strange world where even the language sounds foreign," said the founding partner of George J. Heltzer & Associates, Southern California's oldest exclusively residential building firm.

"ALL THE buyer wants is to get the best possible value for his dollar, and his attempts to concentrate on logical arguments are confused by talk of points, impounds, total square footage and such strange alphabetical mixtures as CC&R's."

The first bit of advice that Heltzer offers the first-time buyer is — keep calm, concentrate one valuating quality, location, price and adaptability of floor plans to the family's requirements.

"Too often the shopper is bedazzled by ornate furnishings of a model home, or is misled by what sounds like a number of square feet — when much of the interior space might be completely useless due to poor planning. Still other buyers might be overwhelmed by elaborate brochures.

"Remember, you're buying a home, not printing," the builder warned.

IN ORANGE County, Heltzer is previewing the second unit of Mesa Woods, a new community one-half mile west of the popular South Coast Plaza shopping center in Costa Mesa.

Model homes are open daily from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Via surface streets, take Bristol or Harbor to 1101 Sunflower Avenue. Via San Diego Freeway, take Fairview offramp, and go north on Fairview to Sunflower, then right to sales center.

Ford Motor Company's fourth unit train (called FAST for Ford Auto Service Train) headed out of Detroit June 16 with a mass shipment of parts and finished automobiles for company assembly plants in California.

The shipment marks the beginning of daily scheduled fast service to the West.

FAST is a Ford-pioneered system in which all rail freight traffic from plants in the Detroit area is consolidated at the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton (DT&I) Flat Rock Yard into nonstop, outbound trains to the company's outlying assembly plants.

Following a year of research and experimentation, Ford's first unit train — also the first in the auto industry — traveled from Detroit to Atlanta and Louisville in June, 1969.

"Last year's three test runs to Atlanta, Louisville and California cut loaded transit time by 30 per cent — resulting in faster delivery of Ford automobiles to west coast customers and parts to Ford plants," Richard Haupt, director of the company's Transportation and Traffic Office, said.

"In addition, the FAST system uses freight cars more efficiently, minimizes damage and pilferage and achieves greater economies for both Ford and the railroads. Eventually, we plan to expand the number of origin and destination points and to schedule unit trains for departure from the Flat Rock Yard to other cities on a daily basis."

THE TRAIN WILL ARRIVE FRIDAY afternoon at the Ford Los Angeles Assembly Plant and early Saturday morning at the San Jose Assembly Plant. Included in this shipment are parts and cars from company plants in the Detroit area, Lima, Ohio, and Windsor, Ont.

Conventional freight trains carry goods from many manufacturers which must be switched at points along the route to reach their final destinations, Mr. Haupt explained.

The FAST system carries only Ford parts and cars and travels virtually nonstop between departure and destination points. After the cars are unloaded at their destination, they are collected and formed into another unit train for return to the Flat Rock Yard where they are redistributed to Ford plants for reloading.

The DT&I, Norfolk and Western, Union Pacific, Santa Fe and Southern Pacific lines are the carriers participating in the initial phase of the FAST system. Ford plans to include other railroads in the future.

cula, 71 bends more eastward — toward Vail Lake and Butterfield Country, eight miles back into the Rancho California hills.

TWO hundred and 19 new trailer, camper and motor home sites have been completed to bring the number of "pads" to 500.

Ultimately, say Rancho California spokesmen, 1,000 vehicle sites will be operable at the 8,000-acre outdoor living spa.

Most sites are equipped with electrical, water and sewer hookups.

We found the rustic restrooms clean, warm and comfortable. Each stall shower has its private dressing area.

Your neighbors are not close, for the "pads" measure 40 by 60 feet. Most sites, as was ours, have been strategically created beneath huge spreading oak trees.

A WALK to the Village Square, center of activities, revealed scores of youngsters enjoying a huge game room and outdoor pools.

Bicycling, horse-drawn wagon rides and horse riding are available.

For the fishermen, Vail Lake is open daily on a permit basis. Friends of ours had no trouble at all in landing Bluegill and Rainbow Trout and — with more time — could have added bass, crapple and channel cat.

With all these plusses going, we looked for reasons to pass out demerits on both the Landau 250 and Butterfield.

A malfunction in the door lock of the motor home and a pesky dinette section (used when expanding it into a double bed) that periodically slid into the aisle were marked down. Both are easily corrected.

An abundance of motor bikes — that not always restrict themselves to the asphalted lanes at Butterfield (or to the 11½ mph limit) — was the lone negative that could be noted there. That, too, say Butterfield spokesmen, will be corrected immediately.

With a distinct twinge of regret the weekend had passed so swiftly, we tidied up our site, disconnected the 250's services and bid goodbye to Butterfield Country.

The twinge of regret was just as sharp as we stepped from the Landau in Anaheim and grudgingly handed back the keys.

Mission Viejo is often cited as America's most successful master-planned community.

It currently encompasses six distinct new home

PORTS O'PROGRESS

By JACK O. BALDWIN
Marine Editor

Edward C. Farrell, who has guided members of the Los Angeles Harbor Commission over many legal shoals during the past four and half years, has been promoted to assistant city attorney for the Department of Water and Power.

Farrell will move up upon the retirement of Gilmore Tillman on Feb. 1.

Replacing Farrell in the Harbor Department is Nowlan C. Hong, who has served with the city's Civil Division for 12 years.

Hong was welcomed aboard during the Wednesday meeting of the Harbor Commission. Farrell is to remain until mid-August.

REAR ADMIRAL CHARLES TIGHE will be relieved as commander of the 11th Coast Guard District during change of command ceremonies on June 30 aboard the cutter Venturous.

Taking over temporarily will be Capt. Benjamin M. Chiswell, the present chief of staff of the district.

The new permanent commander, Rear Admiral James W. Williams, is expected to take over command in late July.

THE FIRST SHIPMENT of coal from Western Colorado bound for Japan arrived recently at the bulk loading facility at the Port of Los Angeles.

The coal from the North Fork Mining District arrived in 32 carloads. The shipment was the initial load of two, 10,000-ton shipments scheduled to arrive in the port during the next two months.

Claude P. Heiner representing Western Slope Carbon, Inc., said his company expects to move in excess of a half million tons per year through the port.

Last year the first shipment of coal from Utah was handled by the bulkloader.

Oranges Harvested at Rancho

Harvest of the first commercial crop of valencia oranges to be grown at Rancho California was completed last week at the 90,000-acre multi-purpose county community in southwest Riverside County.

Michael Graziano, vice president in charge of Ranch property operations, said the oranges were harvested from a 92-acre parcel owned by a group of investors including business and professional men.

The yield was 7,000 boxes, or 385,000 pounds.

Jim Warner, of EFC Farming Co., managers of the grove, said the fruit is of good quality, size, color and taste for a first yield.

The oranges will be packed by Eadington Fruit Co. in Fullerton and marketed under the Sunkist label. Many will go into the export market, principally to Japan and the Far East.

Lusk Homes in Extended Showings Another Week

Extended showings of decorated models at the Lusk Homes communities of Nohl Ranch, Anaheim and Orange, and Country Hills, La Habra and Fullerton, continues another week.

E. G. Warmington Jr., director of marketing and sales for Lusk Homes, said hours at the model home complexes would be extended to 9 p.m. during this period "to allow potential home-buyers to view the changing scenic panorama available as it progresses from daylight to dusk to darkness."

Warmington said view locations, overlooking Orange County, are available in both communities, which include the many quality features which have become synonymous with Lusk Homes construction.

NOHL Ranch, located near the junction of the Newport Freeway and Lincoln Avenue, has become a focal point for gracious living in the restful quietude of rolling hills.

SUPERVISOR

Mrs. Dona Franklin, of Orange, has been appointed Orange County supervisor for Welcome Wagon International, in charge of its hostesses in the area. Mrs. Franklin has a management - public relations background.

A wide variety of floor plans and exteriors are available in the homes, which range in price from $44,600 to $60,500.

Creative design for indoor-outdoor California living is featured at Country Hills, off Euclid Street just south of the Imperial Highway.

HOMES ranging in price from $45,150 to $57,500 are built on gently sloping hills, retaining the aura of ranch living while providing the convenience of nearby schools, churches and shopping.

"Our plan to extend the showcase hours for homes at the two communities evolved from frequent requests from home buyers to visit their potential new homes at night," Warmington said.

"If the response warrants, we may continue the extended hours later into the summer."

Trade Bill Debated

NEW YORK (UPI) — Some 950 workers at a Uniroyal Keds shoe plant in Woonsocket, R.I. lost their jobs April 3 when the plant closed down under competitive pressure from Far East producers.

A Westinghouse color television plant at Edison, N.J., recently transferred its production to Japan and Canada, according to union testimony before the U.S. Tariff Commission. The unions also said that a Sperry and Rand computer assembly plant had moved its operations to Germany and Japan to seek out cheaper labor.

The House Ways and Means Committee heard similar testimony as it considered the trade bill proposed by President Nixon which, while advocating free trade, suggested some restrictions on imports and some tax shelters for American business.

After 35 years of pursuing a "one world, free trade" philosophy, the United States is paying serious heed to high tariff advocates, growing unemployment and business cutbacks are rallying points for the protectionists.

FREE trade advocates have dominated since the Roosevelt administration because theirs was considered the proper international stance, gave American consumers access to relatively inexpensive foreign products and helped hold down inflation. Few complained because the economy was prospering and could absorb foreign competition without squeezing domestic labor and business.

Now that the American economy is cooling, and foreign competition hurting the job market and store shelves, there is growing pressure for Congress to clamp on tariffs. Unions are fearful of the way American business, seeking cheaper labor, has exported many production facilities to countries which offer it.

Two provisions of the tariff code allow U.S. firms to send product parts to other countries for assembly and pay tariff only on the value added portion of the product when they eventually bring it back into the United States.

Last week three unions — the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers; the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers — complained to the Tariff Commission about the situation.

They listed 9 companies that have shut down or curtailed operations in the past year to seek cheaper labor, mostly in the Far East, Germany and Mexico.

ELECTED
Larry Thomas, director of research for Long Beach Chamber of Commerce, has been elected president of California State College, Long Beach, Alpha Kappa Psi chapter, national professional business fraternity. Stanley Smith was named vice president of leadership.

MORE than 200 U.S. electronic plants have gone to Mexico. Textile workers in the South are losing jobs to the lower wage rates in Japan, Taiwan, South Korea and Hong Kong. Far Eastern textile producers have increased their exports to the United States by $1.145 billion over the last 10 years.

Hugh B. Fleming of Pulse Engineering Co., Santa Clara, told the Tariff Commission the other side of the story. He said his plant, which hires 600 workers in the California and Mexican border area, would have to boost prices 10 per cent if tariff provisions were changed.

And Secretary of State William P. Rogers told the House Ways and Means Committee it would be "shortsighted and foolish" to erect import barriers. He said it could lead to an international trade war.

L.B. Firm Planning to Merge

David Pine, president of Arroyo Poultry Co., Inc., South El Monte, and W. E. McKibben, president of Anaheim Sales Company, Long Beach, both diversified food distributors, have announced an understanding in principle has been reached to merge the two.

Both firms are engaged in the distribution of varied food products throughout the Southern California area, and have chosen this course of action to effect wider sources of supply and improved customer service.

Hospital OK'd for Paramount

By RALPH Mc CLURG
Staff Writer

A building permit for a long-sought major medical center to serve the Paramount area was issued to a Long Beach doctor-developer Friday.

Dr. Irving Moskowitz, a Long Beach physician, received the permit — largest ever issued in Paramount — for a 150-bed general hospital and four-story medical building.

The facility, which will cost $5 million, will accommodate 40 doctors. The permit was issued for $1,900,000 by the Paramount office of the county Department of Building and Safety.

PLANS WERE submitted to Ray Ross, building inspector, by Sheldon Schorr, AIA, and Larry Gilbert of Armo Construction Inc. of Los Angeles.

For more than 20 years there had been talk of securing a hospital to meet the community's needs.

Public groundbreaking will be held on the nine-acre site on Colorado Avenue between Harrison and Jackson Streets at 12:30 Sunday.

Heavy equipment for the start of construction will move on to the site Monday.

The hospital will take 14 months to complete. The four-story medical building should be completed within 10 months, Gilbert said.

The hospital site is immediately west of the city hall.

Plans call for the extension of Colorado Avenue from its present deadend to Harrison Street.

DR. MOSKOWITZ, the developer of Los Altos, Lincoln Community, Orange West Convalescent, Golden Haven and other hospitals, said the plans call for 150-bed nursing wings.

The hospital will be equipped with general nursing facilities and equipment for intensive and coronary care and pediatric and obstetrical departments.

Supportive services include a surgical suite with four major operating rooms and recovery rooms.

Also planned are a complete clinical laboratory, a diagnostic-treatment x-ray department, physical therapy facilities, cardio-respiratory laboratories, a pharmacy and a 24-hour emergency facility.

'PURSUIT OF ALMIGHTY DOLLAR' Planner Hits City Ugliness

Ugliness in a city not only creates a bad image for visitors, it actually has a "negative and unhealthy effect" on the residents, according to Long Beach Planning Director Ernest Mayer Jr.

"I am personally appalled and greatly offended by the uglification that we have allowed to be created around us," Mayer said.

Since he became city planning director in November, 1968, one of Mayer's major campaigns has been against urban ugliness.

In a recent address to the Planning Commissioners Institute of the League of California Cities, Mayer asserted that the "disgraceful appearance of most of our cities . . . represents the visual expression of the compromises and accommodations that have been made in our society."

"IT RELATES back to man's single-minded pursuit of the almighty dollar, and to a society which has basically permitted everyone to make as much money as possible without regard to the consequences," he said.

Mayer said some of the urban ugliness obviously is an "untended by-product of ignorance and unconsciousness," but contended that some has resulted from "sheer malice."

"City development and redevelopment," he said, "is still largely dependent upon the often emotional fancy of the individual developer or entrepreneur."

One of the worst "contributors to urban ugliness and chaos" is the advertising sign, Mayer declared.

"There has got to be some reasonable ordinance relationship developed whereby the size, design and location of signing are related to the size of buildings or sites on which they are affixed, and to the speed of traffic, whether pedestrian or vehicular, that the signs must communicate with," Mayer said.

In his presentations to various civic groups, Mayer illustrates his talk with color slides, particularly showing the abuse of advertising signing by some businesses.

"After many years of a totally insensitive approach to the development of industrial plants, industry has now realized that beautification is important for its image and just plain good business," the planning director said.

"We should capitalize on this awakening and do all in our power to foster it," he said.

This has been done in some cities by a joint city-property owner improvement district, Mayer said.

"OUR CITIES have been largely developed as free-wheeling instruments of individual privilege and economic exploitation under the guise of progress," he declared.

"We have made our cities ugly, and must now pursue ways of undoing the damage. We must strive to make our cities places that delight instead of assailing the senses."

"Sociologists tell us that environment is all important in developing healthy, productive and socially acceptable citizens who are able to live in a society that has been described as schizophrenic," Mayer said.

It is the responsibility of government, Mayer said, to "set a tone of conspicuous excellence" in all its development to provide examples for the private sector to follow.

Thums to Cut Drilling Costs

By DON BRACKENBURY
Staff Writer

Operating costs on tide-land oil production will be cut by more than $2 million annually under charges already put into effect by Thums Long Beach Co., the city's Department of Oil Properties reported Friday.

Additional savings are expected from other changes in operating procedure which are now under study, according to City Manager John R. Mansell.

The information is contained in one of the quarterly reports, promised by Mansell at the time the City Council approved the Thums' budget for 1970-71, on steps being taken to reduce operating costs in the local field.

MANSSELL reminded councilmen that the Department of Oil Properties, after analyzing the original budget submitted by Thums, cut it by $5.7 million to $50.9 million.

Since that time, Mansell said, officials of Thums Long Beach Co. have taken several actions to reduce operating costs.

Between January and September of this year, the city manager said, the field contractor will cut its staff by 25 people, effecting an annual savings of $370,000. The reduction will be accomplished by not replacing employees who leave the company, and by enforcing the compulsory retirement age of 65.

Sharp reductions in contract labor, specifically roustabouts and electricians, have cut nearly $700,000 annually, Mansell said.

COSTS OF rented equipment such as skip loaders, A-frames, compressors and cranes have been cut from $561,000 to $276,000 a year, he reported.

Changes in contract services have made possible savings which will total $216,000 annually, and elimination of some steps in the program of steam-stimulation of wells will save another $117,000 annually, according to the report.

In its study of future actions to effect economies, Mansell said, Thums is considering dropping two projects which appear "economically marginal," and is studying costs involved in pump changes.

A study is under way by a marine consulting firm on the merits of rental versus purchase of marine transportation equipment, and Thums also is testing several types of pressure washers to determine the most economical.

Purchase of submarine electrical cables was proposed by the city and is now under consideration by the State Lands Commission staff. The purchase would represent an initial investment of $4 million, but would result in an estimated $8 million savings over the next 20 years by eliminating rental charges, the city said.

Other economy measures involve modification of bidding procedures by placing them in the hands of the city's Purchasing Department, and studies aimed at streamlining administrative procedures.

Beret War Games Stress Intelligence

Reserve units of the Green Berets will team with Navy Reserve units today and Sunday in war games off the coast.

Three detachments of the Army's Special Forces will be transported to a point off San Clemente Island today by the Long Beach reserve destroyer USS Maddox.

They will go ashore by life rafts to engage 1,500 "enemy" troops on the island.

The problem is reconnaissance. The Berets will infiltrate the east and west ends of the island and return to the ship early Sunday with intelligence they gather.

Maj. T. J. DeGraw, Buena Park, commands the Berets. Cmdr. Daniel T. Bridge is the Maddox's skipper.

Eastside Unit Seeks Interest

By TOM WILLMAN
Staff Writer

The East Long Beach Neighborhood Council will hold a meeting Monday—open to residents within the council's eastside boundaries—with an eye toward restructuring the body and expanding its services.

But primary purpose of the meeting, at 7:30 p.m. in the Wesley United Methodist Church, 1100 Freeman Ave., will be to initiate a program of building interest among eastside residents in helping themselves and their neighbors, council spokesmen said.

Frances Bond, of the Long Beach Commission on Economic Opportunities, said the council's board of officers will attend the meeting, as well as several members of the CEO, under whose auspices the council functions.

"WE WANT THE PEOPLE to become more interested in themselves, in their neighbors," said Mrs. Anne Finley, a member of the council. "Like — there's a hungry child on your block. What are you going to do about it?"

Council members explained that they seek to expand services on the eastside beyond those offered by the East Long Beach Neighborhood Center, and to involve members of their community-at-large in isolating their problems and remedying them.

They listed among the community's problems those of employment, job training, housing and education, plus the general health and welfare troubles encountered by low-income families with children or elderly persons.

And because East Long Beach has a large Spanish-speaking population, said Mrs. Bond, translators will also be present at the meeting.

ALL EASTSIDE residents automatically fulfill the only obligation to membership in the council, she said, so anyone living within the eastside boundaries, as indicated by the Long Beach Office of Economic Opportunity, are invited to attend.

The OEO boundaries for the eastside are Pacific Coast Highway on the north and east, Cherry Avenue on the west, and Seventh Street on the south.

An additional section included under OEO guidelines is bounded on the south by Pacific Coast Highway, on the north by 23rd Street, on the east by Lakewood Boulevard and on the west by Redondo Avenue.

The meeting is to be the first in a series of gatherings to restructure the council, the spokesman said. They indicated that election of new council officers would be held "about the third meeting."

DENNIS THE MENACE

By Hank Ketchum

HAVE YOU PEOPLE GOT TIME TO LISTEN TO A COMMERCIAL ABOUT WHAT I WANT FOR MY BIRTHDAY?

Forecast for Sunday

Your birthday today: The Sun leaves Gemini behind and enters Cancer at 3:43 p.m. Eastern Daylight Time. Babies born today before this minute are Gemini, while those born later are Cancerian. In other words, the hour and minute of changing signs is different. Both Gemini and Cancer natives will find definite changes this year to make money, not so much in new ventures as in streamlined, more effective versions of what is already started. Today's natives are shrewd observers, sympathetic, usually at ease in public places.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Matters of personal relationship are not favored. Aside from this one sensitive area, this will be a pleasant Sunday. TAURUS (April 20-May 20): People do things contrary to your planning. Pick up the pieces and go on in good humor. Sketch out future work plans. GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Take part in the community expression of faith. Be a tourist in your own neighborhood so that you see it from a new viewpoint. Let your loved ones know your feelings. CANCER (June 21-July 22): Home life brightens up the Sunday. Don't expect too much from anybody; give everybody a good word or something constructive to do. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Your ideas run into conflict with your situation. If you concentrate on things that can be done in solitude, some of the tension is eased. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): This should be an average sort of Sunday. Do what is expected of you with casual humor. Do nothing, however, to the point that it becomes tedious. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): This generally happy Sunday of home enjoyment loses a bit of sparkle due to somebody's contrary feelings. A small surprise is in store, too. SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): The entire day is more eventful than planned. Start early to allow for unsought opportunities and last minute changes of direction. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): There are many people to meet. Belated errands are also part of the agenda. Bad habits are subject to ready changes for the better. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): This is a multicolored Sunday in which you can do both pleasant socializing and something that builds goodwill for your favorite charity. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Somebody near you resists your plans. You might bring the doubler along to join in the fun. Many interesting acquaintances are on your mind. PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Spend a quiet day as nearly alone as you can. Whatever activities you do engage in should be kept impersonal. Retire early.

Sheriff Vote Hearing Set

By BOB GEIVET
Staff Writer

An unsuccessful candidate for sheriff of Orange County, who challenged the validity of the June 2 primary vote because his name was not rotated on the ballots, will have a hearing July 1 in Santa Ana Superior Court.

Meanwhile, the county became a party in the civil suit brought by Marshall Norris against Sheriff James A. Musick and County Clerk William E. St. John.

Superior Court presiding Judge William C. Speirs allowed county supervisors to intervene in the unique case.

Norris, a former deputy sheriff and more recently a Superior Court clerk, had received an official apology from St. John, who conceded that Norris should have been listed at the top of the ballot in two supervisorial districts.

Ordinarily, the incumbent gets top billing, but St. John allotted it to the veteran Sheriff Musick. The clerk later conceded that it was a "new" office because supervisors abolished the office of coroner and gave it to the sheriff.

Subsequently, Superior Court Judge Claude M. Owens had ruled that the office should be listed as sheriff-coroner, and that the candidates should share rotation of their names — but that it was too late to reprint the ballots.

Three Sailors Freed on Shooting Charge

Three sailors accused of a shooting in which the victim became a paraplegic, were found innocent this week in Superior Court.

The defendants, of Filipino descent, were Rudy B. Cariaga, 25, Valentin

M. Lagman, 24, and Juanito L. Salamat, 25.

They were accused of assault with intent to commit murder in the shooting of Antonio Locanas, 25, also an American sailor of Filipino descent.

He was shot last Oct. 24 on First Street near Daisy Avenue. The bullet struck his spine, left his lower limbs paralyzed and for a time left him without a voice.

When officers asked him at St. Mary's Hospital to name his assailant, he wrote Cariaga's name.

After the verdict Wednesday, the defendants' attorney, Edwin J. Wilson, said the jury apparently accepted defense contentions that Locanas was the aggressor and that the shooting occurred as Locanas and Cariaga struggled over a gun.

POLICE SAID that three days before the shooting Locanas had been involved in a barroom argument with friends of Cariaga.

Locanas has been hospitalized at Long Beach Veterans Hospital, since his transfer from St. Mary's some months ago. He appeared in court and testified from a wheel chair.

More than 20 witnesses were heard in the two-week trial, which took place in the court of Judge Frank C. Charvat.

BRIEFLY...

A Baptist Credo, Methodist Golden Couples, Presbyterians & 'Tongues'

By LES RODNEY

Long Beach's First Baptist Church has made a significant departure from tradition. Because of what it sees as a watering down of the faith in many churches today, the congregation on Tenth and Pine has come up with a "Statement of Faith and Belief" which it asks its people to affirm.

Well, "departure from tradition" is only in a secondary sense — that Baptists historically have shied away from creedal pronouncements, emphasizing instead the priesthood of each believer before God.

The statement, actually aims at reaffirming the more central heart of Baptist tradition — the undeviating belief in the Bible as the infallible Word of God. This, incidentally, is an issue which has recently come front and center most sharply within the giant Southern Baptist Convention.

First Baptist is an American Baptist Convention affiliated church — formerly known as the "Northern Baptists." However, of all the major denominations, the word "affiliation" has perhaps the least practical meaning to Baptists. Exercising this jealously guarded right of autonomy of the individual congregation, First Baptist some time ago decided to state that it is "not affiliated with the National Council of Churches," to which the American Baptist Convention is affiliated.

First Baptist's Statement of Faith and Belief, proposed by the pastor, Rev. Dr. Frank M. Kepner, is prefaced by a recognition of the non-creedal tradition, then adds "We must realize, however, that in this modern age there is an increasing prevalence or prophesied apostasy in many churches, and it now seems wise to recommend a Statement of Faith for our church, for two reasons. First, that the world may know exactly where we as a people stand in relation to 'the faith once delivered' and, second, that our prospective teachers, officers, and board and committee members may have the opportunity of thus testifying to their beliefs in the realm of the spiritual."

Heart of the statement is: "We believe the Bible to be the inspired, infallible revelation of God, completely without error... We believe the Bible is the final and absolute authority in matters of faith and practice."

It continues with statements on God, the trinity, Jesus Christ ("as the one and only Savior of men"), the Holy Spirit, Salvation, and the Church, with Biblical references for each stated position and concludes with the pledge "I hereby subscribe to and affirm the above statement of faith and belief in its entirety."

Observers do not think the ingredients of a "rift" are present on the subject within this church. The overwhelming majority of the congregation is seen as agreeing with the pastor that proclaiming their fundamental beliefs is at this moment more important than sticking to the "non-creedal" Baptist tradition.

Twenty three couples who have passed their Golden Wedding anniversaries were honored last Sunday at Grace Methodist. This may put the church at Third and Junipero second to First Methodist among area churches for the number of Golden Wed couples in the congregation. (Printing that guess is one sure fire way of hearing from any other church which might top 23.)

Since Methodists are known as people who enjoy eating, these longevity listings are good news to those of us who don't spend ALL our meal times counting calories!

A look at the Grace Methodist wedding dates shows that the couple deserv- ing of the biggest hand is Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Ferguson, who pledged their troth in 1903 back in McGregor, Iowa.

Yes, that is 67 short years ago. A thing or two has changed in the world since then, hasn't it, Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson?

To nobody's surprise, the Hawkeye State leads among the Golden Wed pairs, with five. Perhaps not so expected is the fact that two of the couples were married right here in Long Beach. They are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Van-Den-Top, and Mr. and Mrs. Obed Godard. Mrs. Godard, incidentally, was a principal of an elementary school here some years back.

Congratulations to all of the Golden Wed couples with the many memories.

A ONCE shunned subject among the major denominations — the Pentecostal experiences such as tongues, healings and exorcisms — came in for candid comment in a report at the recent United Presbyterian assembly in Chicago.

Two years in the making, the report reversed

MAY I HAVE A MOMENT OF YOUR TIME?

One of the frightening aspects of campus and street disorders is the proven fact they are so often instigated by hard-core militants determined to bring America to her knees. Such revolutionaries have a definite, emphatic goal, and to that goal, for whatever purpose, they give themselves without reservation.

Most of us feel both contempt and pity for those radicals who accept, and even demand, the blessings our great country affords, then callously use them to the detriment of our free society.

I must confess, however, that, while I would not want the Christian community to adopt their philosophy, their morals, their habits, I do wish Christians were as dedicated to the cause of Christ as are the above mentioned militants and revolutionaries to theirs.

Why not become a little militant about your faith? Attend church tomorrow. Give your spirit a chance to breathe.

Sincerely,
Frank M. Kepner, Pastor

Agnew Against the National Council of Churches

When Vice President Spiro T. Agnew took a round-house swipe at the National Council of Churches recently, he roused some sharp rejoinders from many church leaders, including members of his own denomination, the Episcopal Church.

It began in a speech at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where the vice president criticized the conduct of modern youth as being the result of permissive parents who "threw discipline out of the window," and added:

"They are the children dropped off by their parents in Sunday School to hear the modern Gospel from a progressive preacher more interested in fighting pollution than fighting evil; you know, one of those pleasant clergymen who lifts his weekly sermons out of old letters from a National Council of Churches that has cast morality and theology aside as not relevant and set as its goal on earth the recognition of Red China and the preservation of the Florida alligators."

Among the many tart responses was this by Rev. Dr. David Hunter, the council's deputy secretary general, and Episcopalian: "An Episcopalian ought to be able to discern evil better than that, and a vice president should recognize a national priority when he sees one."

Hunter said the vice president had "stirred his own church," as well as the 32 denominations which includes Presbyterians, Methodists, Lutherans, Baptists, Christian Disciples, United Church of Christ Congregationalists, Episcopalians, Eastern Orthodox, Brethren, and smaller bodies such as Quakers, of which President Nixon is one.

He Hits 'Fight on Pollution Rather Than Evil,' Is Blasted by Fellow Episcopalians and Others

The National Council's first president in 1950-'53, Rt. Rev. Henry Knox Sherrill, was then presiding bishop of the Episcopal Church, and the current president, Cynthia Wedel, also is an Episcopalian.

Agnew, in criticizing the council's concern with such matters as environmental pollution, also was challenging a view shared by major churches, Protestant and Catholic — that religious commitment demands efforts for wholeness in all sphere of life, both social and personal.

"More and more, Christians have come to recognize that concern for social justice, for peace and human dignity is part of the Gospel message and goes along with concern for the individual," said the Rev. Dr. Ralph M. Holderman, the council's evangelism director.

"But some people are still operating under the illusions that there is some sort of dichotomy of morals — applicable in individuals but not in their community affairs."

A leading Roman Catholic theologian, Rev. Gregory Baum, commenting on the vice president's remarks in the St. Louis Review, a diocesan weekly, says the "Catholic Church today in her official teaching agrees with the National Council of Churches and the World Council on the social and political commitment implicit in faith."

He says it "is impossible to follow the Lord Jesus Christ and shrug one's shoulders" at "social evils which we suffer and for which we are, in part, responsible."

He also says "it is an honor" for the churches to be criticized by the government for instilling in young people a concern for such issues as peace, civil rights, social legislation and protection of the earth.

As for Agnew's reference to Red China, the council has taken only a qualified position, asking the government to "study the advisability" of opening diplomatic channels with that country. Roman Catholic bishops this month also commended "efforts to develop working relationships" with mainland China.

A satirical "Open Letter to the Hon. T. Spiro Agnew" circulated this week at council headquarters. Written by Fletcher Coates, editor of the weekly, Tempo, the council's only publication resembling a "newsletter," it thanks Agnew for "the confidence you have expressed" in Sunday schools.

The letter said "it is also heartening that you say so many clergymen are joining in the fight against pollution" — when many Americans have criticized the churches for lagging behind in this "moral struggle" and when President Nixon has urged also citizens to devote themselves to it.

"There is, of course, the small confusion caused by your apparent references to clergymen preaching against pollution instead of evil. Surely, this is a misprint, because as you, President Nixon and all thinking Americans know, pollution is one of the great evils of our time. For example, the open sewer known as the Potomac oozes seaward not far from where you labor so industriously for our country . . ."

'TRUE FRIEND OF ISRAEL'

Leading Rabbi Lauds Graham

Billy Graham's expressed love for the people and the land of Israel has earned him warm appreciation in the Jewish community, a prominent rabbi has declared.

Rabbi Marc H. Tanenbaum, national director of the Interreligious Affairs Department of the American Jewish Committee, on his radio program last week said that Graham regarded the rebirth of the city of Jerusalem "as the work of God acting in history in fulfillment of the Biblical prophecies."

The depth of Dr. Graham's conviction, Rabbi Tanenbaum said, "is reflected in the fact that under his spiritual influence, his own daughter and son-in-law have gone to Israel where they are now working on a kibbutz, helping to till the soil of the holy land as their way of serving God and humanity."

The rabbi noted candidly that "quite obviously Mr. Graham's evangelism and his theology pose at least as many problems for Judaism and the Jewish people as they do for Christians who do not share his outlook . . ." but added that other facets of Graham "need to be understood in any full appraisal of this impressive man." He said "Billy Graham deserves better than a stereotyped, skeptical response from thoughtful Jews . . . while not ignoring basic differences."

Rabbi Tanenbaum praised the recently released Graham film "His Land" as "perhaps the most beautiful, sympathetic portrayal of the people of Israel restored to their ancestral land that has been made by any Christian . . ."

the "imminent overthrow of the government, continued mass casualties or a similar grievous situation." This resolution passed by an overwhelming margin.

Both resolutions were brought forward by a youth caucus from the Santa Ana district.

The United Methodist Church is the largest Protestant denomination in the Pacific Southwest, and a close second nationally to the Southern Baptist Convention.

Greater mobility along racial lines in the naming of pastors was called for by Rev. Melvin G. Talbert.

At Disciples Meet

Mrs. William C. Speer of Bixby Knolls Christian Church will be among an expected 3,500 women of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) at the Quadrennial Assembly of the church's International Christian Women's Fellowship at Purdue University Monday through Friday.

FROM THE PULPIT

Father's Day is here. No man on earth has the influence upon lives that a father has. Psychologists tell us that when children are deprived of a father's influence that the life is left with a void and often a frustration that is never overcome.

Three questions are appropriate at this time. First, have you a father who is a Christian, and have you followed through with his efforts in your behalf spiritually? The prodigal son went from misery to happiness with this proposition. Secondly, are you, as a father, seeking to instill spiritual values in the minds of your children? There is no question as to what you should do for your children in this realm. There is no question as to what you can do. A father has the ability to influence a son. He ever remains the son's hero, hardly do you have a relationship with God that enables you to say, "Our Father, which art in heaven."

Observe Father's Day at Calvary! Calvary is for you!

Maybe Adversity Has Its Points

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Most people underestimate the exciting value of adversity. The United States was built on the philosophy that men could take adversity and use it to build something — including themselves. And so, when you look back you understand why we produced such colossal men in the history of this country. They knew that adversity was a mechanism by which a human being grows strong. And then you grow strong, then you get excited about life. And when you get excited, things start happening.

Sydney Z. Mitchell, a power plant builder around the turn of the century had a saying: "Blessed is he to whom adversity comes early in life." It's tough philosophy but Mitchell was right. It is unfortunate for sure if you have to wait too long for adversity. Get it early! And learn how to use it.

FRANKLY, I'VE got to admit that I don't welcome adversity any more than anybody else. But it's been proven that the real excitement in life comes in struggling; struggling for something or struggling against something. It makes you tough, and to survive in this world you've got to have a tough streak in you. So adversity makes you a man. And, more important, it makes you feel like a man.

Some time ago at Miami Beach I gave a speech to the members of the National Automobile Dealers Association. There were some 5,000 automobile dealers present and they weren't in the happiest mood because the motor car business was down at that moment. But those men impressed me by their philosophy of difficulty. They understood that adversity is part of the game of life, that no one can succeed without struggle and some tough going at times.

In talking with the automobile men, I picked up a story about the early days of Rolls Royce, a concern which was started in 1904 by a man named Henry Royce. He was a manufacturer of cranes, but his hobby was automobiles. One day he met a dared-evil sports driver named Charles Rolls who tested cars. Cars, of course, back in 1904 weren't the durable machines they are today. You were lucky if you took a 10-mile trip without breaking down.

Mr. Royce determined to make a car that would last for the life of the owner. And he decided that the only way to do that was to begin with some adversity. He constructed what he called a tumbling machine. It consisted of two huge cogs set about six feet apart flush with the floor. He and Charles Rolls chained the rear wheels of an automobile to the floor over those cogs. Then the car motor was started and accelerated to the equivalent of 60 miles an hour. The cogs turning at this speed produced in effect the situation of a car being driven at high speed over railroad tracks.

This grueling test really took the car apart. First, the radiator fell off. Then the transmission went out. Then the gear box broke down. The rear axle gave way and the frame bent. In the end, the chassis was separated from the body of the car.

But Rolls and Royce refused to be discouraged. They invested all their funds and exercised great persistence developing new and stronger alloys and giving close attention to each part of their automobile that had broken down. Finally came the day when for 95 hours continuously the car was tumbling on those cogs without any part breaking. It was figured that each car endured the equivalent of driving 250,000 miles on this rigorous test basis.

This particular car would probably not have been created without what we might call, manufactured adversity. Each person is tested by experience on "cogs" that bump and buffet us unmercifully. But this is part of life's way of making us have what it takes. Out of adversity, men rise to the stature of great human beings. Adversity is the stuff that makes stronger and wiser people.

MARCIA BROWN
Student Leader Is Guest

UCLA Leader at Grant A.M.E. Youth Day

The young people of Grant Chapel African Methodist Episcopal Church, at 1129 Alamosa Ave., will celebrate the annual Youth Day on Sunday by presenting the entire 11 a.m. service.

Guest speaker Marcia Brown, former honor graduate from Compton High School now a student leader at UCLA, will be the guest speaker, on the theme: "Today's Youth: Fulfilling Our Father's Dream."

Invitations have been extended to youth groups of 12 Long Beach churches, and the general public is invited. The A.M.E. youth choir will provide special music for the occasion.

Miss Brown, a native of Little Rock, Ark., who moved to California in 1959, is 22, and in her senior year. She was chosen by Chancellor Young as one of three students to represent UCLA on University of California President Hitch's Student Advisory Council. She holds a national office and has been president of Pi Chapter at UCLA for the past year. In 1968, as a member of the Black Students Union, she helped prepare a proposal for a student newspaper, and was first editor-in-chief of the paper, NOMMO. Active in student government, she is a representative to the National Student Assn.

Her plans include graduate school at UCLA's Theater Arts Dept., Motion Pictures Division. She hopes to become a screen writer.

'BRIEFLY' COLUMN

the former "upright" feelings about dealing with the subject, which has made certain inroads beyond the ranks of the Pentecostals themselves.

The document, which was accepted with no dissent, said that "the practice of glossolalia (speaking in tongues as the Spirit moves one) should be neither despised nor forbidden," but on the other hand "should not be emphasized or made normative for the Christian experience."

It went on to address itself directly to those Presbyterians who have been affected by the phenomenon, saying "Keep your neo-Pentecostal experiences in perspective. No doubt it has caused you to feel that you are a better Christian. Remember that this does not mean that you are better than other Christians, but that you are, perhaps, a better Christian than you were before."

ANYONE NOTICED that denominational conventions are much less "headliny" this year than last? It seems to some like a reaction against several years of rugged controversy in which the church was thrown headlong into the maelstrom of conflict, which has tended to divide the nation.

Perhaps a more accurate description would be that this is a year for the churches to digest and absorb the momentous events of recent years. A growing emphasis by blacks within the churches on organizational techniques rather than head-on confrontation has undoubtedly played its part in the subsiding of tumult. Plus the fact that what once was an advanced religious position for ending the Vietnam war and for broadening the concept of permissible moral objection to the war, have become widespread and even "establishment" positions.

1969, in case you have forgotten, was the shake em-up year of James Farmer and the Black Manifesto at denomination conventions!

But even with a more orderly atmosphere, there are still plenty of inner church issues along "liberal" vs. "conservative" lines in 1970 conventions, as witness the Southern Baptists on the inerrancy of the Bible, the United Presbyterians and American Lutherans on sexual mores, and the Southland United Methodists this week on a variety of topics.

A GUEST from India, Mrs. Renuka Somasekar, a member of her country's National Christian Council, told Christian Church-Disciples leaders in Indianapolis last week that restrictions on Western missionaries in India are forcing Indian churches "to do what we should have done 20 years ago" — that is, develop their own leaders. Indian church bodies should be left to "sink or swim," she said, obviously confident that they would learn to swim, with indigenous leadership.

Songs of Pipers Can Praise Land

By GEORGE ERES
TV-Radio Editor

Somewhere around here — I can't put my finger on the reference this moment — there's a thought from somebody about how he'd rather write a nation's songs than rule its destinies.

Sombody's always improving on an idea and in this case a better soundtrack led a lot of people to follow the pipers who figured you could rule a nation's destinies through its songs.

There are, as a result songs of revolution and songs of pseudo "folk." And there are songs revolting against this revolution in song. I mean, lately Tiny Tim has tip toed from the tulips to songs in praise of the country — which is a good idea, but still doesn't make me a Tiny Tim fan.

RAY STEVENS tonight starts a summer replacement series for Andy Williams and he's got something to say along this line.

Stevens is quoted as saying, "Somebody said" (he has trouble putting his finger on references, too) "—and I've been thinking — that what this country needs is a patriotic song that is hip enough to be accepted by the record buyers and become established as a hit."

Stevens, among his other talents is a composer, and, he continues, "I figure I'm about average in everything from politics to morals, so I've written about patriotism, seen through the eyes of a guy who is neither Jerry Rubin nor George Wallace. I'm just saying let's get together and take the same path down the middle and get the problems solved. I hope it means what 'God Bless America' meant when it came out."

Those are laudable sentiments and I hope his song is a success. But, I have never been too partial to program music. What happened to the old songs about rivers or my true love's hair?

IN THIS SAME area, Dick Sinclair's "Polka Parade," seen on Ch. 5 Sundays at 6 p.m., will originate live from Universal Studio, starting July 19, for 12 weeks. There's a fee to get into the studio for the tour, although the Sinclair Show, once you're in, is free.

Sinclair says: "Bringing the show to the public like this is our way of saying 'thanks' to our fans who have helped keep 'Polka Parade' on the air for more than 15 years. We are the 'Yankee Doodle' program of TV. Our show reflects the mainstream of American thinking. . . ."

Well, that explains why I'm not in the mainstream. I can take a polka or leave it and the heck with the mainstream if I have to be pro-polka.

That's all right with Sinclair, though, because he says "We produce our show for our viewers, not for the critics and the acclaim of the industry."

Come on, Dick! A producer may hope the critics like the show, or not care one way or another, but no

Leave It To Larry

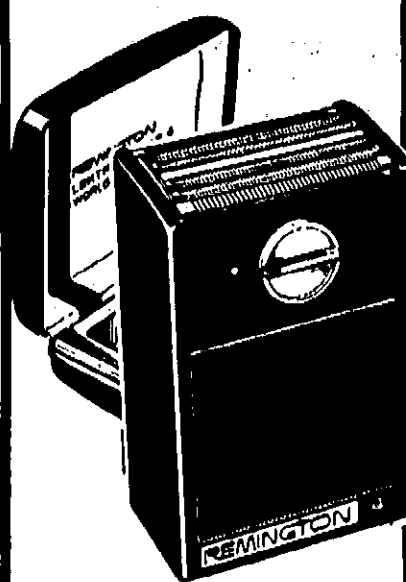

By LARRY MEDER
HARBOR CHEVROLET

Jim Keegan, that cordial, capable manager of the "Velvet Turtle" tells of the London Vice Squad who raided a home for elderly ladies on a tipoff regarding the use of marijuana. With typical British efficiency, they searched every "nook-and-granny," finally finding a small amount in the dresser-drawer of a lady 87 years old.

The fine officer, placing a hand gently on her frail shoulder, asked her softly to come along to Scotland Yard. With a vicious karate-chop to the officer's collar bone that sent him sprawling, she sped out the rear door with the speed of a gazelle! The second officer took off in hot pursuit down the alley and, (as policemen in England do not carry guns), he drew his police whistle whose ear-piercing shriek carries for 1/2 mile and shouted, "HALT . . . OR I'LL TOOT!!!"

Folks — Harbor Chevrolet has been "blowing the whistle" on high prices for years. Dial "M" for MEDER at GA 6-3341, 3770 Cherry.

Tony Jacks Lead to 3 Strokes

Combined News Services

CHASKA, Minn. — Tony Jacklin forged a two-under par 70 and grimly clung to the lead in Friday's second round of the U.S. Open golf championship while stormy Dave Hill swept into contention on a course he said he'd "like to plow up."

Jacklin, the 25-year-old Englishman who led the weather-plagued, wind-blown first round with a 71, had a 26-hole total of 141 three under par on the rolling, 7,151-yard Hazeltine National Golf Club Course, a layout that took a lambasting from the outspoken Hill.

"A monkey is as good as a man out there," the tough-minded, 33-year-old Hill said after ripping out a 69 for 144. That put him in second place, three strokes off the lead.

"I'm playing good enough to win," said Hill, who has drawn a total of about 2½ months of suspension for his overly spicy comments, "but I wouldn't particularly want to win it on this course."

He said the course, a creation of famed golf architect Robert Trent Jones, was "designed by a man who had his blueprints upside down."

Scores generally were greatly improved from the windy first round.

Randy Wolff, a tour

sophomore, tied the course record with a 67 — but some of the giants of the game continued to have their troubles.

Arnold Palmer had a 74 for 153. He was tied at that figure with South African Gary Player, who improved from a fat 80 with a 73. Masters champion Billy Casper took a 75 for 150.

Wolff, a 25-year-old Texan, was tied for third at 145 with Dick Crawford, another touring pro seeking his first victory.

Gay Brewer, after a first round 75, became one of the 13 players who broke par, with a 71, to total 146 and take fifth place.

New Zealand lefty Bob

Charles, 71, and veteran Howie Johnson, 72, followed at 147.

The big group at 148 included Frank Beard, Bobby Nichols, Julius Beros and Ben Crenshaw, an 18-year-old amateur from Austin, Tex.

Jacklin, who created a sensation in his homeland last year when he became the first Englishman in 13 years to win the British Open, started poorly with bogeys on the third and fifth holes, but bounced back with a string of three birdies starting on the ninth.

Jacklin conceded part of his troubles on the early holes might have been lack of concentration.

"I guess I was probably thinking of being the leader," he said, "but I settled down and got my concentration back. I tried to get my tee shots in good position, and I was pleased with the way I finished."

But, he said, "playing today compared to Thursday was like two rounds in two different seasons." He welcomed the gusty winds of Thursday since they reminded him of home.

"But all good things come to an end and a good golfer expects all types of weather. The course certainly didn't play the same both days."

Jacklin rifled an iron to within eight feet of the flag at the ninth and made the putt, put his approach four feet from the hole on No. 10 and chipped to seven feet on the par five 11th and made it.

The personable young man, a pro since he was 17 and a regular on the demanding U.S. pro circuit for four years, also birdied the 17th to stretch his lead to three strokes going into the third round of this most prestigious of all golf's titles.

He was in the left rough on the 17th, hit it a little fat coming out and was a little short, but the ball kicked onto the green to about seven feet.

While Jacklin stretched

Singer's Hummer Back, Beats Reds

'OUTTA MY WAY BIG MAN'

Works 5 Strong Innings for 1st Win in Two Months

By GORDON VERRELL
Staff Writer

CINCINNATI — The reporters crowded their way around William Robert Singer who was decked out in a smart double-breasted brown pinstripe suit as he hung his soaking Dodger uniform in the locker.

As Bullet Bill fielded the questions, the manager, Walter Alston, shoved his way through the group and, beaming, said, "nice goin', Bill. Great to have you back."

It was the manager speaking for the whole team.

Bullet Bill, 52 days on the disabled list recovering from hepatitis, provided the Dodgers their most encouraging sign in weeks with five powerful innings, in a 6-1 victory over Cincinnati Friday night before 24,539 fans at Crosley Field.

Singer, in only his second start since coming off the disabled list last week, allowed only two hits in his five innings. He worked out a tight squeeze in the third when the Reds loaded the bases with no one out and walked off with his first victory in more than two months and only his second of the season.

"I'm tired now," the 20-game winner of 1969 admitted after his strong performance. "Getting out of that jam in the third was the key. It gave us the momentum."

The Dodgers backed Singer and relievers Jose Pena and Jim Brewer with 10 hits including homers by Andy Kosco and Tom Haller. It's now three wins in a row for the Dodgers as they continue their task of catching the Reds in the National League West. The deficit is now nine games.

BILL SINGER earned first victory in two months, beating Cincinnati, 6-1.

The Dodgers nearly handed the runaway Reds their first shutout loss of the season but Johnny Bench slugged a two-out eighth inning homer off Pena, ending a string of 26 1-3 scoreless innings by Dodger pitchers.

The return of Singer was the encouraging part of Friday's victory, as well as the return of Bill Russell who was called up from the Dodgers' Spokane club in time to deliver two hits and drive in a run against the Reds.

"I'm just trying to make contact this season," said a weary Russell who flew all night and part of the day from Hawaii to reach Cincinnati four hours before the game. "I'm swinging at strikes now and not so many bad pitches," he added, explaining his lousy .359 average which was tops in the Pacific Coast League.

League.

"I'm thinking more at the plate, too. My swing is much more level than it was last year."

Russell, who did little more than sit on the bench with the Dodgers the latter part of 1969, went to the minors in 1970 and didn't squawk once.

"I didn't want to sit on the bench anymore," he said. "I wanted to play and I knew it was in my best interest to go to Spokane. Really, I was surprised I was called up now since I have two-week military training in just a couple of weeks."

"Nervous? Well, I was before the game and had to get a pill. After that I was fine."

Russell figured in the Dodgers' first run against Gary Nolan who hasn't completed a game since beating the Dodgers on opening day, a string of 14 starts. Maury Wills walked, took second on

ANGEL SKID HITS FIVE

Lefty Loses Game, Composure

By DON MERRY
Staff Writer

It was a game which had everything except the Good Housekeeping Seal of Approval — and it didn't come close to qualifying for that.

It was a night of the abstract and the absurd, of the incongruous and the bizarre.

It was a night on which Lefty Phillips lost:

1. The game to the Milwaukee Brewers, 5-2.
2. His left fielder, Alex Johnson, via a first inning ejection by plate umpire Bill Kunkel.
3. His third baseman, Ken McMullen, who reinjured muscles in his rib cage while at bat in the second inning and,

4. His composure.

It was also another night of regression for the Angels who have now stumbled on five consecutive occasions and remain five games in arrears of the Minnesota Twins.

For the suddenly belligerent Brewers, it was their third win in a row and their first against the Angels, a team which had defeated them five times in succession prior to Friday's untoward activity.

The loss of Johnson may be for more than eight innings if American League president Joe Cronin reacts harshly to a report which will be filed today by Kunkel and his crew.

"I tried to keep him in the game as long as I could," Kunkel said, explaining his side of the story.

ANGEL OF DAY

JIM FREGOSI ripped three hits, including homer, as Angels bowed to Brewers, 5-2.

Johnson had argued on a pitch which he felt was inside. Then he hammered a run-scoring single to left and continued jabbering at the plate umpire from his perch at first base.

"That's when I decided to toss him out," Kunkel said.

Johnson returned to home plate and engaged Kunkel in some more heated and spite-filled conversation.

"He said he was going to run up my back with his spikes," the arbiter said. "He also told me only one of us was going to leave the field and that before the end of the season it was 'Gonna be between you and me.'"

Johnson finally walked away from home plate, tossed his helmet at Kunkel's feet but missed and hit Phillips in the foot instead. When the temperamental outfielder reached the dugout, he flung a leaded bat which landed near the on-deck circle.

Phillips made no attempt to protect his outfielder but added that he may take some retaliatory action if a critical report of Johnson is filed by the umpires.

"Alex was wrong," Phillips allowed, "but those umps said something to me before the season and I may be forced to bring that matter to Mr. Cronin's attention."

Phillips is also concerned about other things, not the least of which is the five-game losing streak.

FORT MARCY DEFENDS TITLE TODAY

Fort Marcy, fresh from two successive course record stakes triumphs in the East, will defend his title in the $100,000 Invitational Turf Handicap today at Hollywood Park against a pair of familiar rivals — the stretch-runners Fiddle Isle and Quicken Tree.

Nine horses were entered in the mile and one-half encounter, but attention will focus on the "Big Three," who will be battling for the third time. Fort Marcy narrowly defeated Quicken Tree and Fiddle Isle two years ago in the Sunset Handicap, and both horses reversed that decision when they dead-heated in the 1970 San Juan Capistrano, a nose in front of Fort Marcy.

Fiddle Isle, who carries high weight of 128 pounds today, will go postward with stablemate Pinjara and the Charlie Whittingham-trained, Howard B. Keck-owned Tandem is expected to rule a slight favorite over Fort Marcy and Quicken Tree.

Bill Shoemaker, regular rider for Fiddle Isle, will be up today, and Howard Grant will handle the reins aboard Pinjara who carries 121 pounds.

Fort Marcy, who will have saddle services of former national riding champion Jorge Velasquez, a great measure of fame in the West by virtue of his "hit-and-run" invasions of Hollywood Park and Santa Anita. Trainer Elliott Burch has shipped the Rokeby stable-owned star to California on five previous occasions, and the cross-country journeys have resulted in two major stakes victories and three second-place finishes.

Quicken Tree, who will be making the 70th start of his career, goes postward with Fernando Alvarez in the saddle. Quicken Tree will carry 125 pounds, one less than Fort Marcy.

Completing the Invitational field are Onandaga, Pattee Canyon, Fairfleet II, and the Frank McMahon-owned entry of Society II and Governors Party.

Fort Marcy and Quicken Tree, two of the most durable competitors to grace the American thoroughbred racing scene in recent years, could take a giant step toward the $1 million mark in career earnings with a victory today.

Fort Marcy, second leading money-winner among active horses, has $764,025 to his credit, while Quicken Tree, third among active horses, has banked $710,053.

Cal Surprises NCAA;
Two Marks for 49ers

DES MOINES, Iowa (Special) — Tireless Bob Bertelsen of Ohio University shattered the national collegiate and meet six-mile record and California's swift duo of Eddie Hart and Isaac Curtis sped to a one-two 100-yard finish in the 49th NCAA outdoor track and field championships Friday.

Bertelsen's victory by 70 yards in 27 minutes, 57.5 seconds was the only record-smashing feat as the big track carnival at Drake spun through seven final events Friday.

Two school record performances put Cal State Long Beach performers in two of the 14-event finals today.

A 49er foursome of Curtis Biggers, Earnest London, Clarence Palmer and Dan Moore ran 40.2 to take a fourth place in a 440 heat behind Texas A & M (39.8), North Carolina Central (39.8), and USC (40.0).

Twenty minutes later Palmer came back to make the 440 finals after running 46.5 to cut two tenths off his former school mark. The old school 440 relay record had been 40.4 at the Pacific Coast Athletic Assn. finals.

World 'Endurance'
Record Set During AAU Swim Meet

A world record for perseverance and/or endurance was set Friday during the first day of competition in the AAU Lakewood Senior Swimming Championships at Mayfair Park Pool.

An expanded field of more than 120 world class male and female athletes took 5½ hours to complete three events during the kickoff of the three-day meet, which brings together 400 swimmers representing 35 clubs and swimming associations from San Diego to San Francisco.

But it was understandable.

A total of seven heats were required for the men's 1500-meter freestyle, with each heat claiming an average of 20 minutes to run.

"We were a victim of circumstance," claimed Wally Simmons, an official at the meet. "The response to the meet has been so fantastic and the entries in each event have been unusually large. But it makes for a better, more competitive meet."

Hans Fassnacht, a West German transfer student now attending Cal State Long Beach, lopped to an easy victory in the 1500-meter marathon. He clocked 17 minutes, 9.3

Orange Invitational Has
Lots of Stars, No Clarke

By KEN PIVERWELTZ
Staff Writer

Kerry O'Brien's long struggle to overtake fellow Australian countryman Ron Clarke won't get a chance to be renewed at today's second Orange County Invitational at El Modena High.

Clarke, world record holder at two, three and six miles plus 5,000 and 10,000 meters, suddenly bowed out of the meet Friday.

In announcing his withdrawal, Clarke, 33, who had been entered in the 2-mile, said he had to go to London on business thus ending what had been expected to be his last American appearance a week early.

Clarke, a well beaten second to O'Brien over three miles in a 1970 world best 13:10.9 at last Saturday's Portland Rose Festival Invitational, is expected to retire after next month's British Commonwealth Games in Edinburgh, Scotland.

"I'd wish to hell he'd retire," said O'Brien. "I've been running in his shadow for a long time."

The presence of O'Brien, Gerry Lindgren, John Lawson and Mexico's Mario Perez at 2-miles could highlight a meet sprinkled with world record holders.

O'Brien, at 23 the heir apparent to Clarke's

CIF Heavy Favorite Over
L.A. City in Sunair Meet

Topflight senior from high schools throughout Southern California will compete in the second Sunair Invitational track meet tonight at Cerritos College.

The meet, which pairs the four top athletes in each event from Los Angeles City schools against their CIF Southern Section counterparts, will be scored on a dual meet basis.

Last year's inaugural meet had the CIF taking a 85-33 decision which may be as one-sided this time around.

The L.A. City's top performer at the state meet was junior miller Brent Tubb of Cleveland who won the mile at 4:12.9 and can't compete tonight.

CIF athlete of the year Jackie White from Santa Ana and Blair's versatile Jim McAllister are expected to lead the onslaught.

McAllister will lead off a potent CIF 440 relay that will also include James Coates of Poly, then Jim Davis of Santa Ana and White.

Seven athletes — Coates, Miguel Robinson, Glenn Harmatz, Ron Sasser, Cal Gibson, Fred Batiste and Dave Schiller — will represent the Moore League.

Four non-scoring events are also scheduled — triple jump, 330 intermediate hurdles, 5,000 meter run and sprint medley relay. Field events begin at 7:30, first race at 8.

At Sacramento tonight, Poly graduate Jim Chaffin will be out to avenge his only defeat of the year in a strong two-mile at the 11th Golden West Invitational for graduating high school seniors from throughout the U.S.

Chaffin is paired against state champion Ron Johnson of West Torrance who has a U.S. seasonal prep best of 8:55.6 and Mike Keough of Newark, N.J. who has run 8:57.4.

More than $700,000 will be up for grabs from coast to coast today on a money-studded horse racing program that includes four $100,000 headliners — at Belmont Park, Hollywood Park, Arlington Park and Detroit Race Course.

The big money is on the line at Belmont in the $100,000-added Coaching Club American Oaks, at Hollywood in the $100,000 Invitational Turf Handicap, at Arlington in the $100,000-added Arlington
